THE FRONT END of a Schaumburg squad car is torn away during a three-car accident late Wednesdy near Roselle Road and Thacker Street in Schaumburg. A Palatine woman was killed in the accident.

Squad car kills Palatine woman

by STIRLING MORITA
and DIANE MERMIGAS

A 21-year-old Palatine Township woman was killed Wednesday night when her auto was struck almost head-on by a Schaumburg police squad car. The patrolman driver has been relieved of duty.

Christine Lovan, 1079 N. Deer Ave., driver of one of the cars, died four hours after the accident which occurred about 11:35 p.m. on Roselle Road just south of Thacker Street.

She was transported to Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights after Schaumburg firefighters worked feverishly to free her body from the wreckage.

Patrolman David Mabbitt, 24, suffered a sprained back, cuts and bruises and was treated at the same hospital and released. Mabbitt a policeman for a year, was charged by Sheriff's Police with improper passing.

Schaumburg Police Chief Martin Conroy has filed a departmental charge involving care of equipment against Mabbitt. Conroy said the State's Attorney's Office is awaiting a coroner's inquest to see if other charges are warranted.

The squad car and the Lovan vehicle were demolished. The engine block of the police vehicle was torn away by the impact of the near head-on collision.

POLICE SAID MABBITT was driving south on Roselle Road and passed a slower vehicle on the two-lane road. He was swinging his car back into his lane of traffic when he sideswiped a northbound car driven by Roy Struve, 27, of 707 E. Algonquin Rd., Arlington Heights, authorities said.

The squad car then crashed with the Lovan car, which was just behind the Struve car, authorities reported. Struve was not injured in the accident.

Sheriff's Police handled the accident investigation because the Schaumburg Police Dept. has a policy of having state or county police investigate mishaps involving squad cars.

Mabbitt, who was to go on vacation today, has been relieved of duty, but his pay will not be withheld pending a hearing by the fire and police commission on the department charge, Conroy said. Mabbitt is scheduled to appear March 12 in the Niles branch of Circuit Court on the traffic charge.

2nd Harper campus plan gains support

by WANDALYN RICE

Residents of Wheeling, Buffalo Grove and Prospect Heights who attended a meeting with the Harper College Board of Trustees Thursday expressed support for a second Harper campus near their communities.

Unlike residents of Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect who attended earlier meetings with the college board and asked skeptical questions about the college's second campus plans, the 30 persons who attended Thursday's meeting in Wheeling indicated by their questions support of the second campus.

The tone of the meeting was set by Wheeling Village Pres. Ted C. Scanlon who said that when he first heard of the college's plans and showed representatives of the college around Wheeling looking for vacant land "I got a great feeling built up that pretty soon we'd have the college in our backyard." He told the board he was disappointed by delay in getting the land for the site.

HARPER BOARD Pres. William Kelly told Scanlon, "We should put you in charge of the public relations program for the second site." He explained that the college is negotiating with the Mayo Clinic for purchase of land at Palatine and Schoenbeck roads in Arlington Heights and that "we'll move as quickly as the law allows" on the second site.

College Pres. Robert Lahti said that he anticipates a referendum in the fall to raise funds to buy the second site if negotiations with the Mayo Clinic go smoothly and the college is able to get quick approval for the purchase from the Illinois Community College Board.

Board members also explained to residents of the Lake County part of Buffalo Grove that legislation will be needed before that area could join the Harper College district. The area, served by the Stevenson High School district, recently voted to take itself out of the Lake County Community College District.

Board member Marilyn Marier explained that until a law is passed allowing the area to join the Harper district, the Stevenson High School district will be charged the difference between in-district and out-of-district Harper tuition for residents of the area who attend Harper.

MRS. MARIER also said that the educational program for the college's second campus has not been planned and that plans now call for no building on the site until 1980. However, she said the second campus will be planned to try to minimize the distance a student would have to travel between the new campus and the college's campus in Palatine.

"There are some programs — like dental hygiene — that require high capital costs that we couldn't duplicate at the second campus, but philosophically, we want to make the second campus a real campus with full facilities."

College Vice Pres. William Mann said purchase of the second campus with a bond issue, would probably add 80 cents to $1 to the property tax bill of a resident of the district. The state, he said, will pay 75 per cent of the cost of the land and the cost of construction.

It's a close shave over who's best coiffed

by BOB GALLAS

The issue of hair length is on again — or is it off again? — at Wheeling High School.

Shunning the long locks sported by most high school males these days, sophomore Curt Rathje and junior Tim McGinn have done their own thing — they shaved their heads.

The answer to the long-hair trend that started about 10 years ago, their actions apparently haven't started a stampede to the barber shop, although it has cured McGinn's dandruff.

Rathje, whose father is a teacher at Wheeling, started the whole thing with a crew cut. He decided to "go all the way" when a few others popped up sporting crew cuts.

"As soon as I saw him (Rathje), I knew I wanted one too," McGinn said. "I always wondered what I'd look like bald."

The two said they "did it to be different," but really not for all the attention they're getting. "We didn't think about it until we came back and saw all the attention we got," Rathje said, as a long-haired teacher came by and rubbed his bald head.

What's the reaction from the female members of the student body?

"A lot like it," said McGinn.

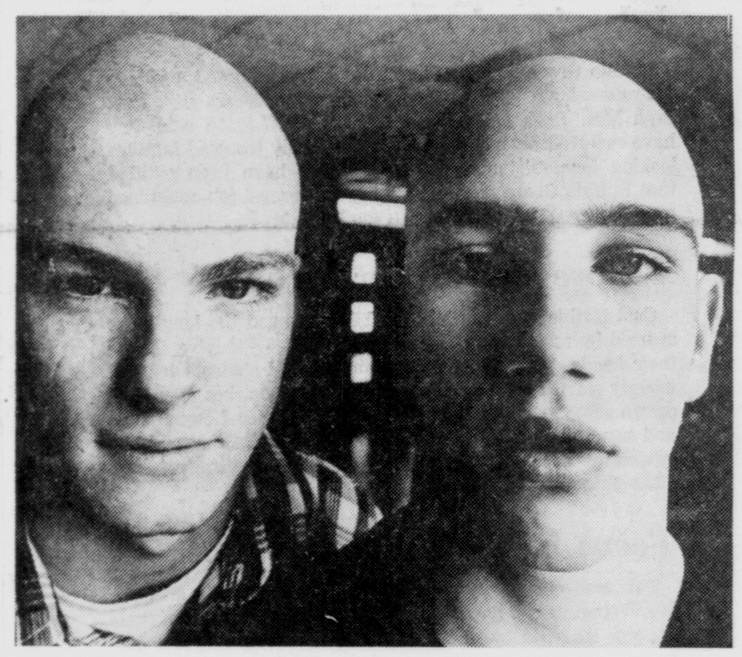
"I haven't heard that," Rathje quickly broke in.

"The girls are afraid to touch it," McGinn added.

Although they have learned to take all the jokes from "skinhead" and "baldy" to "onionhead" and "Kojak", the two are unsure whether they will keep their razors sharpened.

"It's a pain shaving 45 minutes a day," Rathje said. "You have to wear a hat a lot," added McGinn.

Their baldness hasn't provoked any hazing by upperclassmen. Both are members of the varsity wresting team.



TOPLESS? When other Wheeling High School students started sporting crewcuts, Tim McGinn, left, and Curt Rathje went one better — by shaving their heads.

Federal assistance unavailable

Trustee Rech urges village create job-referral agency

by JOHN MAES

Buffalo Grove Trustee Clarice Rech has proposed a village job-referral agency to help unemployed Buffalo Grove residents find jobs.

Mrs. Rech said she will urge the village board to discuss the possibility at future workshop sessions.

Unemployment and financial problems that have plagued other areas are not severe in Buffalo Grove, but Mrs. Rech and Village Mgr. Daniel Larson said they have received several calls from financially troubled residents. Mrs. Rech said four village residents have contacted her recently, some were behind in their housing payments, she said.

LARSON SAID there is little the village can do now, other than refer residents to Wheeling and Vernon Township officials and the local chamber of commerce for financial or job assistance.

"Our hands are tied because of financial constraints," Larson said. The village would like to hire a civil engineer and another building inspector but Buffalo Grove's tight money situation makes it impossible to fill the positions, Larson added.

In addition, the village recently was notified by Cook County officials that Buffalo Grove does not qualify for federal job assistance funds because the jobless rate here is lower than in other areas.

Daniel Larson

THE FUNDS ARE awarded to communities on a priority basis to areas where unemployment is more severe.

With federal funds, Larson said five or six employes could have been hired to work on various village projects, the golf course or in the public works department.

One step officials are taking is to contact the state employment office to see what can be done for residents with employment problems.

Otherwise, Larson said persons will be referred to township agencies that can provide needy residents with emergency financial aid.

MRS. JANE KLATT, director of social services for Wheeling Township, said she did not know how many requests for assistance have come from Buffalo Grove but said the number has been low.

She said Wheeling Township has no job program of its own but refers unemployed persons to state employment services.

A Vernon Township spokesman, Mrs. Frances Wilkins, said no requests for financial aid have come from Lake County Buffalo Grove.

Most of their requests have come from the Vernon Hills area of the township and said general assistance is not a "big issue."

Unemployment cases are sent to the state employment service in Waukegan, she said.

LARRY SCHWARTZ, president of the Buffalo Grove Chamber of Commerce, said the organization has set up a special consumer committee to help unemployed local residents find jobs.

Schwartz said merchants who are members of the chamber and have job openings will provide work for persons

2nd Harper site draws enthusiasm

Harper College officials discovered real enthusiasm for the idea of a second campus for the college Thursday night. Residents of Wheeling, Buffalo Grove and Prospect Heights who attended a session with Harper trustees in Wheeling expressed support for the second campus. It was the trustees' third community meeting and the first time the second campus got such a welcome response. The college is negotiating for a site at Palatine and Schoenbeck roads in Arlington Heights.

Stolen jacket leads to arrests

An 18-year-old burglary suspect wearing a stolen jacket has led Rolling Meadows police to several youths who were charged in connection with an armed robbery and six burglaries. The youth was seen wearing the jacket soon after it was taken in a house burglary. A 17-year-old companion, Charles Sinclair, 4909 Wilke Rd., and a 15-year-old youth were charged with the robbery of the 7-Eleven store, 1702 W. Campbell St., Arlington Heights. The youth with the jacket, Gary Crites, 3500 Teal Ct., Rolling Meadows, and another boy and a girl, both 16, were charged with burglary.

Groups continue Rob Roy fight

Homeowner groups in Mount Prospect are regrouping to fight plans to develop the Rob Roy Golf Course. The village board this week rejected the project, but residents of the northeast section of town are making plans to continue the fight against the project if the developer, Kenroy Inc., Skokie, seeks rezoning from the county. Close to 4,000 residents have signed petitions opposing the development.

Job-referral agency proposed

Buffalo Grove Trustee Clarice Rech has proposed a village job-referral agency to help unemployed residents find jobs. Both Mrs. Rech and Village Mgr. Daniel Larson said they have received several calls from financially troubled families looking for assistance. Village officials have been notified that Buffalo Grove does not qualify for federal job assistance funds because the jobless rate is too low.

The two Wheeling High School students haven't exactly started a stampede to the barber shop, but they have drawn some attention. Teens hurt in freak accident

Two teen-age girls were injured in a freak traffic accident late Wednesday in Buffalo Grove when the windshield of their car was smashed by a rock kicked up by the wheels of another auto. The driver of the second car, Eddie R. Smith, 25, of Bridgeview, was charged with several traffic violations, including driving while intoxicated.

Schools skeptical

Catholic TV gets cool response

by DOROTHY OLIVER

The newest addition to Chicago media — Catholic Television Network — is being accepted with a degree of coolness by local parochial schools.

The network, sponsored by the Archdiocese of Chicago, will be dedicated Monday and soon will be available to schools and parishes throughout the Chicago metropolitan area.

Although CTN has been in the planning stages for four years, some local school officials were surpirsed when they were suddenly told that it was on its way and they would be "taxed" for an antenna and receiver sets to link them to the closed-circuit network.

SISTER CONNIE, principal of St. Stephen's School, Des Plaines, described her immediate reaction as "why didn't anyone ask us, the educators.

"We weren't asked, we were told and a lot of people reacted negatively to that," she said. "I think most of us knew that this was in the planning stages for several years. Many educators knew that it would be used."

Sister Connie and many other local principals attended a number of workshops on CTN and some have softened their attitude towards it. "When you look at it in a broader vision you can see it's got other benefits. It will not only be directed to the classroom but to the adults in the parish as well. We are especially hopeful that it will help with religious education."

CTN will be hooked up to 420 parishes in the Chicago area, including 396 elementary parochial schools. It will broadcast over four channels on a special frequency that will be transmitted in this area from repeater towers in Schaumburg and Mundelein.

MORE THAN 30 educational series will be broadcast during the daytime to schools. A block of time has been scheduled when there will be no planned programming on some channels so that teachers can order programs of their choice to be aired. Charles Hinds, executive director of CTN, said the network will be able to respond to requests for specific programs within 48 hours on a first come first served basis.

"Many school programs run only 10 or 14 minutes, in keeping with a child's attention span," he said. "There will also be a tremendous variety available to the schools — from art programs to religious education.

"Schools would not be able to have in their libraries what we are able to produce," Hinds said. "We are offering them resource materials they would not otherwise be able to afford."

In addition to classroom programming, CTN will broadcast programs specifically for senior citizens, Catholic women's clubs, the clergy and teachers. They will also produce programs geared to the Spanish and Polish speaking communities, as well as adult and vocational shows.

SISTER KATHERINE MARY, principal of St. Mary's School, Buffalo Grove, said one benefit she sees with the new network is that teachers will no longer have to travel to Chicago for workshops.

St. Mary's should be hooked up and ready to receive programs Monday. Sister Katherine Mary said teachers have ordered manuals to help them work with the programs and this year, at least, they will attempt to fit the CTN programs into the schedule. "Next year we may schedule around it. We'll have a much better idea once we start using it."

It will cost local parishes about $2,700 to tie into CTN — and this is one factor that has contributed to local grumblings. "All of us are operating on very tight budgets," said one principal. "If they gave us a choice we would have probably said no, we can't afford it. Now we have to try and figure out how to pay for it."

"If it were up to the parish school alone to finance it we couldn't do it," said Sister Connie. "We will share in the cost with the parish so we should be able to do it. But it's true — where finances are concerned — everybody is faced with some problems."

THE PRODUCERS OF CTN promise quality color programming — exciting and creative resource and educational material. They also hope to bring the 2.5 million Chicago-area Catholics together, giving them an insight into other neighborhoods and parishes. "We want to be the mirror of the Archdiocese," said Hind. "Some parishes are doing fantastic things and nobody knows about it."

"It has some very creative possibilities," said Sister Katherine Mary optimistically. "I will accept this new program as openly as I would a new student who walks through the door. There he is all fresh and new. We have a lot to learn about him."

Paddock seeks $1.5 million damages

A lawsuit charging commission of fraud, breach of fiduciary duties and violation of the U. S. Securities Laws has been filed Jan. 28 in U. S. District Court against Robert K. Burns, a professor at the University of Chicago, and John R. Malone of Park Forest. The suit, brought by The Paddock Corp., seeks damages of $1.5 million.

Burns and Malone are former directors and current minority stockholders of Paddock Corp., publisher of nine daily newspapers in northwest Cook County and six weekly newspapers in Lake County.

Paddock's suit charges that the fraud and other illegal acts were committed in 1972 and 1973 in transactions with Associated Newspaper Group, a corporation owned chiefly by Burns and partly by Malone.

The suit states that in 1972 ANG used securities to purchase Crescent Newspapers from Paddock and in 1973 that ANG issued further securities to Paddock. Crescent Newspapers are published in Downers Grove.

PADDOCK CHARGES that it was induced to accept the ANG securities because Burns "fraudulently" misrepresented the financial condition of ANG and made other "untrue statements of material facts." Malone is accused of concealing his stock ownership in ANG and of breaching his "fiduciary duty" to inform Paddock's board of directors of the alleged false statements by Burns.

Burns and Malone are further charged with causing or abetting several breaches of the contract by which ANG purchased Crescent Newspapers from Paddock. "By reason of" all these acts by Burns and Malone the suit says The Paddock Corporation was "required by its auditors to write off the balance due" on debts owed to Paddock by ANG and Crescent.

Currently ANG and Crescent Newspapers are in proceedings under Chapter 11 of the Federal Bankruptcy Act. Those proceedings began in August 1974 when ANG and Crescent filed a petition in U. S. District Court declaring their inability to pay current debts.

Burns recommends against any permanent tax cut

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Saying inflation is still a major problem, Federal Reserve Chairman Arthur Burns recommended Thursday against any permanent tax cut and indicated his agency will not quickly ease credit to jack up the economy.

Burns, in testimony to the House Ways and Means Committee, said he supported President Ford's proposed one-time $12 billion individual tax rebate, but was adamantly opposed to any permanent cut.

Burns appeared before the committee to testify about pending tax relief legislation. But the first question from Chairman Al Ullman, D-Ore., dealt with the controversial federal policy of holding down the growth of the money supply and bank credit in an effort to dampen inflation.

"As long as I am chairman, we will not release a new wave of inflation on this country," Burns said, rebuffing calls for drastic action.

"You can expect an effort to expand at a moderate rate the supply of money and bank credit," Burns added when Ullman asked what the FED's policy would be in light of a possible $100 billion federal budget deficit over the next two years.

Burns promised, however, that the FED would not allow the country to slip into a credit crunch. He said temporary tax cuts could aid the economy without causing long-run inflation.

Meanwhile, Ford sought to spur the economy by ordering a speedup in dividend payments for more than 2.5 million Administration life insurance policies.

"The President feels this action will distribute a substantial amount of cash at a time when it is needed to give a boost to consumer spending," Press Secretary Ron Nessen said.

The early dividends will average $69 for 2.3 million World War II veterans, $168 for 111,000 who served in World War I and $9 for 345,000 veterans of the Korean conflict, Nessen said.

At the accelerated pace, Nessen said a total of $335.6 million in dividends would be paid within the next 45 days rather than spread out from March through December. Nearly half — $177.8 million — will be mailed to veterans, he said, and the rest will be used either as credit toward policy premiums or to buy additional insurance.

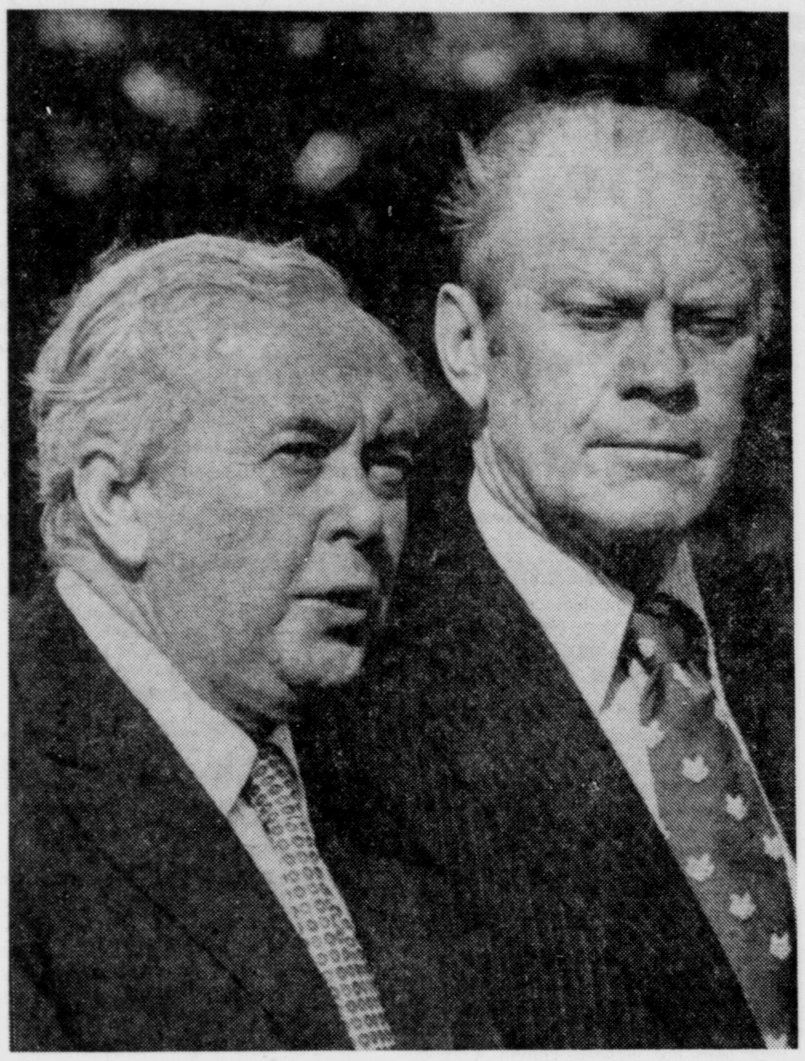
In other economic news Thursday:

• The House Agriculture committee overwhelmingly rejected President Ford's plan to cut food stamp aid for the needy by $650 million a year. It approved by a 33-2 vote a bill which would nullify the President's order increasing the cost of the stamps.

• Chrysler Corp. said that next week's car output will be its best since before Thanksgiving. American Motors, meanwhile, announced 60 per cent of its work force will be off the job. At AMC, 11,350 workers will be off the job out of a work force of 18,750.

• The nation's third largest bank — Chase Manhattan of New York — cut to 9 per cent the interest it charges on business loans. The prime rate move is an indication of possible victory in the battle against inflation.

• The Interstate Commerce Commission turned down a request by most of the nation's major railroads for an immediate 7 per cent increase in freight rates.



PRESIDENT FORD greets British Prime Minister Harold Wilson in windswept ceremony on White House lawn. They said their two countries must ally against the economic crisis, as they have against enemies.

Ford, Wilson talk; vow to battle ills

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford and British Prime Minister Harold Wilson agreed Thursday their nations must unite to overcome economic ills now as they united to conquer military enemies in war.

Ford greeted Wilson on the windswept White House lawn, and told him Britain, America "and other members of the Atlantic community face a new dimension of challenges."

"What is at stake is the future of industrialized democracies," the President said.

"The problems of recession, inflation and of assuring equitable access to fairly priced resources threaten the stability of every economy and the welfare of people in developed as well as developing nations alike."

Beginning two days of meetings in the White House, Ford said, "Only by working together can the industrialized nations of the world overcome these great challenges." Britain's rule, he said, is crucial.

Wilson, his silver hair and his note cards blowing in the wind, cited "this new and menacing world economic crisis."

"We know that the urgency of meeting this challenge is not simply a question of economic mechanisms and economic institutions," Wilson said. "It is vital for the economic security, the jobs and the living standards of the millions of families whose interests we are here to protect."

Both paid tribute to Anglo-American efforts in World Wars I and II and in their current defense alliance.

Passage of ERA by April predicted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Feminist leader Karen DeCrow predicted Thursday the Equal Rights Amendment will be ratified by April, but Democratic National Chairman Robert Strauss foresaw "a full hard year's work ahead" before it becomes part of the Constitution.

Ms. DeCrow, president of the National Organization for Women, cited "growing support" for ERA — an amendment prohibiting statutory sex discrimination which so far has been ratified by 33 of the necessary 38 states.

"We believe Florida will be the 38th state," she told a news conference on ERA. "I'm still holding to my prediction that it will be ratified in April."

She explained that the Florida legislature, where the coalition of pro-ERA groups has mounted a massive lobbying campaign, does not convene until April.

Ms. DeCrow made no prediction on the other four states, but mentioned North Dakota, Missouri, Indiana and Illinois as possibilities.

"We have a full hard year's work ahead," Strauss told reporters. He said he has been contacting Democratic state legislators, governors and other state-level politicians in an effort to raise support for ERA.

"It has been tougher than I thought it was going to be," he said. "It's a matter of far more than male chauvinism. It's a matter of disinterest on the part of a great number of women."

Among the 17 non-ERA states, Strauss said, there are eight or nine in which he would estimate the chances as at least 50-50.

"The states where there is any good possibility are getting smaller," he said. "We can't lose many more. It's not going to be easy."

Actor Alan Alda, a self-proclaimed feminist and a member of an organization known as Men for the Equal Rights Amendment, also appeared at the news conference. He noted that ERA would eliminate laws which discriminate against men.

Elizabeth Cox, NOW's ERA expert, said in a separate interview that she anticipates three state legislatures will vote on the amendment in the next few weeks, but only two of them — Missouri and North Dakota — appear ready to ratify it.

In the third state, Indiana, she described the chances as "mixed."

Asked what states might follow, Ms. Cox replied: "After a couple will go, any can go. We are looking for the bandwagon effect."

Other states in which the pro ERA forces are working for ratification include Illinois and North Carolina.

The Oklahoma House last week defeated ERA and it was set aside recently by both Virginia and Louisiana.

Planes crash in Istanbul, Santo Domingo

From Herald news services

A Turkish airlines twin-engine jetliner crashed into the Marmara Sea in Istanbul Thursday, with 41 persons aboard when a power failure blacked out its runway, airport officials said. There was no immediate word on the fate of the passengers and crew.

In Santo Domingo, a Dominican DC 3 charter plane on a flight to Haiti with 31 persons aboard crashed and caught fire after takeoff. The pilot died, but 27 Canadian passengers, one American and two other crew members survived.

The American was identified as Mrs. Donna King, 30, of Salt Lake City an immigrant to Canada living in Port Credit, Ont.

Authorities at Las American International Airport credited pilot, Manuel LaMarche Rey, owner of the twin engine plane, with saving the lives of the others by skillfully guiding the plane to a flat area to soften the impact of the crash.

In Istanbul, the Turkish plane was approaching for a landing on a flight from Ismir with 37 passengers and four crew members when it lost radio contact with the flight tower at Yesilkoy airport.

In other airlines news yesterday:

• The Civil Aeronautics Board granted Pan American World Airways and Trans World Airlines the right to swap many international routes in an effort to keep the financially troubled airlines operating. CAB told Pan Am to take over many TWA routes in the Pacific region and TWA to assume various Pan Am services to Atlantic points.

• The Air Line Pilots Association ordered its 32,000 members not to fly passenger planes with hazardous cargo aboard, effective Saturday. The ban, designed to pressure the Federal Aviation Administration into enforcing safety standards, would affect nearly every major U.S. airline.

• The radar controller who gave landing clearance to TWA flight 514 that crashed into the Blue Ridge Mountains last Dec. 1, said it was not his responsibility to keep the plane above the mountain it hit while trying to land at Dulles International Airport. Pilots say he should have helped the plane avoid the mountain.

Israel to halt fire 5 days

by United Press International

U.N. truce observers have arranged a five-day "cease-fire" with Israel to allow a Lebanese committee to enter devastated Kfar Chouba and estimate the damage caused to the border village by recent Israeli shellings, Lebanese newsmen reported Thursday.

Meantime, diplomatic reports reaching London said the Kremlin, worried about Egypt's flirtation with the West, is prepared to offer Cairo economic and military aid in exchange for an "even-handed policy" by President Anwar Sadat.

The investigation committee, formed of retired army officers and civil experts, made a preliminary survey of the village in southern Lebanon during the day, according to the newsmen.

Israeli bombardments and other attacks on Kfar Chouba, which the military command in Tel Aviv claimed harbored Palestinian guerrillas and served as a jump-off base for raids into Israel, had caused the 3,000 villagers to seek refuge in the town of Marjayoun.

About 30,000 people demonstrated peacefully today in five south Lebanon towns to demand stronger government protection against Israeli attacks.

Earth once battered by space debris

NEW YORK (UPI) — The heavily cratered, moon-like surface of the planet Mercury adds to the evidence that the Earth was battered by a heavy bombardment of space debris about 4 billion years ago, a California geologist reported Thursday.

Dr. Bruce C. Murray said some of the pictures of Mercury radioed back by the Mariner 10 television probe also suggest to some investigators that at least one huge meteoroid hit Mercury with so much force that shock waves traveled through the planet and scrambled terrain on the other side.

Mariner 10 is now heading toward an unprecedented third rendezvous with the first planet out from the sun. It is due to pass by March 16, almost a year after it became the first spacecraft to visit Mercury. It made a second picture-taking pass last September.

Rock samples returned from the moon by Apollo astronauts showed that most of the great lunar basins were formed by the impacts of huge chunks of space debris 3.8 billion to 4 billion years ago. Murray, a Mariner 10 investigator for the space agency, said that indicates that Mercury's great craters and basins were formed at the same time.

But unlike the moon, Mercury's surface is not completely covered with craters and blankets of debris splashed out by the impacts. This, he said, is because Mercury's gravity is stronger and therefore ejected debris did not travel so far.

What this all mens, Murray told a symposium of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, is that the moon and planets were all subjected to an episode of tremendous impacts.

"It is a solar-system-wide event and that is very important," Murray said. "That carries implications for the Earth. It means the Earth too must have been bomarded by objects as large as formed Imbrium basin on the moon and Caloris a 800-mile wide Mercury crater."

There must have been wide ranging effects on Earth's surface by such a bombardment as there were on the moon and Mercury, Murray said. Earth's wind and rain would have erased any surface signs of such a disruption while they are preserved by the absence of an atmosphere on the moon or Mercury.

GM recalling all 1974 Cadillacs

The Cadillac division of General Motors said Thursday it has begun recalling all 1974 models — 234,000 cars — because the hoods could pop open while the cars were being driven. Cadillac said there had been several reports of hoods opening and obstructing the driver's vision, but there were no accidents or injuries reported as a result of the defect.

Amnesty application deadline extended

President Ford Thursday gave some 100,000 young Americans another month to seek amnesty for evading military service during the Vietnam War. The program had been scheduled to end at midnight Friday, but because of the rush of applications in recent weeks, Ford extended the life of the Clemency Board to March 1, and said: "I believe that many of those who could benefit from it are only now learning of its application to their cases."

Shawano residents to march on abbey

A group of Shawano County residents announced in Gresham, Wis. Thursday they will march to an Indian-occupied abbey Saturday if the Indians do not meet a Friday deadline to respond to a proposal for ending their occupation. Allan Fierek, a restaurant owner, and Ollie Burmeister, a florist, called on "all concerned citizens" of the area to gather Saturday if the armed Indians who have held the Alexian Brothers novitiate since Jan. 1 don't agree to get out.

Flurry of bomb threats in Washington

A flurry of bomb threats to at least nine federal offices in Washington set guards searching Thursday, but only two buildings were evacuated and no bombs were found. The warning telephone calls followed the explosion Wednesday of a bomb causing approximately $350,000 damage at the State Department.

Warn of Argentine murder campaign

The left-wing Peoples' Revolutionary Army Thursday gave Argentine authorities 72 hours to release 19 detained guerrillas or face a murder campaign against government and Peronist party leaders across the country. The Marxist guerrilla group's ultimatum, counted from midnight Thursday, was announced in a two-part clandestine communique distributed to news media in Buenos Aires.

Thieu: $300 million in aid is minimum

President Nguyen Van Thieu said in Saigon Thursday the $300 million in additional U.S. military aid asked by President Ford is the minimum he needs to sustain South Vietnam's war effort. He said it would not be enough if Hanoi also received aid from Russia and China. Thieu declined a direct answer when asked if South Vietnam would collapse if additional military aid was not granted by Congress.

In Washington, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., accused the administration of "threats and scare tactics" in efforts to get additional military aid for Indochina. Ford has asked Congress for $522 million to replenish military needs in Vietnam and Cambodia.

Snowdon objects, but 'My Queen and I' on sale

People

• Despite last minute objections from Lord Snowdon, "My Queen and I," a scathing portrait of the royal family went on sale Thursday in London. Bookstores reported it was selling out as fast as it was put on display. The book is particularly hard on Snowdon, Anthony Armstrong-Jones, and his wife, Princess Margaret. Elsewhere, there was an ad under Domestic Help in the London Evening News; "Buckingham Palace. Daily women required for general duties. Hours to be discussed. Apply in writing to the master of the household, Buckingham Palace, SW1." The ad means Queen Elizabeth needs help keeping up a 600-room palace.

• The Smothers Brothers are in another dispute. During the late 1960s, the Smothers got into a censorship battle with CBS, and the plug was pulled on "The Smothers Brothers Comedy Hour." Recently the pair moved to NBC. Now, a spokesman for NBC-TV says the network's standards and practices department garbled two words of Tommy Smothers' patter with the audience while he was singing "Michael Row Your Boat Ashore." The spokesman declined to disclose the offending words. Both Tommy and Dick Smothers declined to comment on the incident.

• Elizabeth Taylor and her current boyfriend, Henry Wynberg, who has been Miss Taylor's constant companion since the breakup of her marriage to Richard Burton — have left Los Angeles for Switzerland. The pair have been in Los Angeles for several months, while Liz received treatment for a back ailment and Wynberg stood trial on grand theft charges. Wynberg was placed on three years probation.

• Elvis Presley — in the hospital for at least five days for tests and a general checkup — had his hospital windows covered with aluminum foil. A hospital spokesman said Presley, who turned 40 Jan. 8, "doesn't like the light when he sleeps." Elvis is in the top-floor suite of Baptist Hospital in Memphis, Tenn. . . .

In Washington, Sen. Robert Taft, R-Ohio, is in Bethesda Naval Hospital for tests. Taft "has been under stress since the fatal crash of a private plane Saturday carrying three long-time personal friends," a statement from his office said.

• Californians have their problems: In San Bernardino, the owner of a car wash, Reno Bastianelli, sued the entire student body of Fontana High School for $6 million for washing cars to raise money for charity. He charged the students with unfair competition saying his car wash business had dropped 40 per cent since the high school washes began . . . In Victorville, seventeen teachers, students and character witnesses appeared on behalf of high school physical education instructor Lou Sikovich to argue he should not be fired for posing nude in a Playgirl magazine centerfold. The witnesses said Zikovich's ability to teach had not been impaired just because his students can see what he looks like nude.

• Howard Whitman, author and syndicated radio and television commentator is dead at 60 in West Palm Beach, Fla. Whitman had his own talk show, "Howard Whitman Talks," on NBC television in 1953. Later he became a roving editor for the network with a weekly feature on the "Today" show, and until 1970 contributed to "Monitor," the NBC radio weekend show.

Major-crimes bail law overturned by high court

The Illinois Supreme Court Thursday invalidated a state law that denied bail to defendants charged with murder, aggravated kidnaping or treason and called for legislation to provide a prompt hearing for persons accused of a crime.

The high court's decision left the question of bail solely up to the trial court in such cases. The ruling was based on the U. S. Supreme Court's 1972 decision invalidating the death penalty. The state constitution says any person may be granted bail unless the crime for which he is charged could subject him to the death penalty upon conviction.

In another case, the Illinois court criticized the legislature for failing to provide defendants with a mechanism to guarantee they will receive a "prompt preliminary hearing" as guaranteed by the constitution. They suggested legislation be enacted to avoid possible "future abuses."

The ruling came in the case of a St. Clair County man held in jail for 65 days without a preliminary hearing.

Zoo food policy 'for birds'

Inflation has forced the Brookfield Zoo to stop being so kind to its web-footed friends.

Illinois briefs

Senior birdkeeper Glen Bushor says migrating mallards are straying off their normal north-south track 90 miles to the northwest to swoop down for the free food stock given to the zoo's collection of birds.

"They have bunches of babies all over the place," Bushor said, "and I wouldn't be surprised if they tell their friends about all the free eats here. They must have some method of communication."

The zookeepers have begun trapping the pesky mallards and holding them captive until they collect a flock's worth. Then they will truck them away. "Our feed costs have doubled from $250 a week to $500 a week," Bushor said. "And it's just getting too expensive."

Cop pushes 'good-guy' image

Some new portraits are popping up in lower grade classrooms in DuQuoin, Ill., to go along with likenesses of George Washington and Abraham Lincoln. The new ones are there to convey a "good-guy" image, too.

A DuQuoin policeman uses 2-foot-by-3-foot blowups of fellow officers in and out of uniform to show students at two local schools that policemen aren't such bad guys after all.

"In a nutshell," Patrolman Mike Bragg said, "we're trying to catch the child early and teach him to always run toward a policeman instead of away from him."

Bragg added, "You know, 95 per cent of our job is service work. In DuQuoin it is not a gangbusters' job. To have parents tell their children that 'the police are going to get you if you aren't good' is a copout and I tell them so."

Danville water-rate hike

The Illinois Commerce Commission Thursday granted a 19.2 per cent water rate hike to the Inter-State Water Co., which serves some 16,400 customers in Danville, Ill. and nearby areas.

The commission approval will bring an estimated $313,556 in revenue to the company, which had asked for a 27.3 annual per cent rate increase.

The rate increase for residential customers will average about 14.9 per cent, or about 88 cents a month, the commission said. Rate hikes to wholesale users and large commercial and industrial customers will be higher than the increase to residential users.

Between Dundee, Aptakisic roads

Officials want county to fix Buffalo Grove Road

Buffalo Grove officials want the County Highway Dept. to repair a one-half-mile stretch of Buffalo Grove road between Dundee and Aptakisic roads.

Village Mgr. Daniel Larson Thursday said he requested the project be put on the department's road maintenance schedule. He said he had no idea when the county might do the work.

A spokesman for the highway department Thursday said officials had not received the request but was unable to say when the job might be scheduled. The department is slated to begin several other high-priority road projects this year.

The Buffalo Grove request also is subject to county highway officials' review to determine if the repairs are necessary.

Larson said the pavement has shifted, cracked and become bumpy in spots.

Buffalo Grove road is one of a few stretches of county roadway in the village and is not included in the new five-year capital improvements program that outlines major overhauling of village streets.

Although the Buffalo Grove-Dundee intersection was widened and improved last year, Larson said the roadway from north of the Ranch Mart Shopping Center has not been worked on for about 10 years.

A HALF-MILE stretch of Buffalo Grove Road between Dundee and Aptakisic roads needs repairs village officials say.

Stolen jacket key to burglary arrests

by NANCY COWGER

A burglary suspect wearing a stolen jacket has led Rolling Meadows police to several youths who were charged in connection with an armed robbery, six burglaries and an auto theft.

Charged were Gary Crites, 18, of 3500 Teal Ct., and Charles Sinclair, 17, of 4909 Wilke Rd., both of Rolling Meadows, and three Rolling Meadows juveniles, a 16-year-old girl and 15-and-16-year-old boys.

Sinclair and the 15-year-old boy were charged by Arlington Heights police with the armed robbery of the 7-Eleven Food Store at 1702 W. Campbell St. two weeks ago, in which $75 in cash was taken by two persons wearing ski masks. Police recovered two pellet pistols allegedly used in the robbery.

Rolling Meadows police charged Sinclair with possession of stolen property, and six counts of burglary. One of the breakins was at the home of Thomas Schwartz, 3714 Bluebird Ln., Rolling Meadows. The three juveniles also were charged in the six burglaries, and with theft of an auto owned by William Colker, 3102 Swallow Ln.

Crites was charged with the burglary at the Schwartz home.

POLICE RECEIVED the report of the Schwartz burglary at about 6 p.m. Wednesday, and Det. Michael Condroski was checking gathering places for suspects when he saw Crites wearing the jacket in the bowling alley, said police. He recognized the jacket as matching the description of one of the items taken from the Schwartz home. He questioned Crites, who led him to the other youths.

Police then picked up Sinclair, but the juveniles learned of the two arrests before police located them. They took the car and drove toward Rockford, when they ran low on gas, police said.

Near Rockford, they abandoned the car and stole a truck with Wisconsin license plates, which also was low on gas, police said. Just outside Rockford, they stopped at a service station for the Winnebago County State Police, and asked a trooper if they could buy gas there. The trooper checked the license number of the truck, and learned it was reported stolen. He took the juveniles into custody, police said.

The juveniles were being held Thursday at the Audy Home, Chicago, pending juvenile court action. Sinclair and Crite posted $2,000 bond each on the Rolling Meadows charges, pending the scheduling of a trial date. Sinclair failed to post $2,000 bond on the armed robbery charge from Arlington Heights, and is being held in County Jail.

Working with Condroski on the case were Dets. Charles Smith and Gerald Broderick, and Service Officer Albert Jurs, all of the Rolling Meadows Police Dept.

Todd Johnson wins first in math contest

Todd Johnson, an Elk Grove High School student, has won first place in a nationwide mathematics contest sponsored by the University of Santa Clara, Calif.

Johnson, a 17-year-old sophomore, was termed an "exceptional student" by his math teacher, Marilyn Thacker. "He didn't realize when he got the notification letter he'd won," said Miss Thacker. "He thought it meant he did the best of anyone else in the school."

Up against more than 500 top students from across the country, Johnson was one of two High School Dist. 214 students to win honors in the contest. Carolyn Hesler, from Buffalo Grove High School, received an honorable mention.

"The formal math background of a student isn't supposed to make that much difference on the seven-question test," said Miss Thacker "If you are clever and ingenious, you can do it."

L. F. Klosinski of the Santa Clara math deparment who headed the contest, said it was "extremely rare" for a sophomore to win the contest.

Village to name street for Thompson

Past Buffalo Grove Village Pres. Donald J. Thompson will have a street named in his honor as part of a program to commemorate past village leaders.

A village board decision has authorized the renaming of Mayflower Boulevard in the Strathmore Grove subdivision, under development in Lake County, to Thompson Boulevard.

Levitt and Sons Inc., developers of the subdivision, told village officials they have no objections to renaming the street.

Thompson served in the office from 1967 to 1971 when he was succeeded by Gary Armstrong, current village president.

The next sep, said Trustee Thomas Mahoney who suggested the idea to the village board, will be to dedicate a street to Aloysius P. Bunescu, village president from 1959 to 1963.

Currently two roadways, Clohesey and Farrington Drives, are named for village presidents.

Schwartz can be contacted at 541-5000. "We certainly welcome inquiries in this regard," he said.

The lighter side

Smelly trees need deodorants

by DICK WEST

WASHINGTON — Trees enjoy something close to a sacred role in this country.

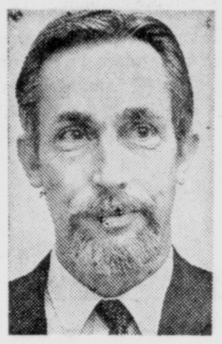
Poet Joyce Kilmer ranked them ahead of versification. Poet George Pope Morris admonished woodmen to spare them. The one that grew in Brooklyn made the best-seller list.

To be told, all of a sudden, that trees contribute to air pollution is like being told that Snow White had halitosis.

The tendency is to close our ears to such talk, as environmentalists did at a recent hearing on auto exhaust emission standards.

When a Chrysler Corp. executive pointed out that trees and grass also give off pollutants in the form of hydrocarbons, it was sacrilege in the first degree.

"A red herring," cried one environmentalist, metaphors awry. The old fish-in-the-tree trick.



Dick West

"You don't drive your lawns downtown in large concentrations," another testily observed.

Such reaction was understandable considering the reverence in which trees are held. But one wonders whether it was not a bit shortsighted.

What does it gain us merely to be affronted by the Chrysler biggie's put-down of our leafy friends?

Even the environmentalists concede that trees, lawns and other flora do produce hydrocarbons. "That accounts for the way pine trees smell," one said.

And while the pollutive impact may not be "terribly bad" as someone pointed out, that is no reason to ignore it.

A more prudent course would be to remove the tree from its pedestal and have the Environmental Protection Agency establish vegetation emission standards.

As the first step, anyone planting a tree would be required to file an environmental impact statement.

It should be fairly simply for botanists to develop an under-limb anti-hydrocarbonation spray. If used as directed, you could deodorize your pine trees for up to seven days with one application.

Some tree growers will object, of course, vowing that they like the smell of pine. Such resistance can easily be overcome.

There is already on the market a number of aromatic sprays, including some that smell like pine. So it should be no problem to put out a pine-scented underlimb spray, thus replacing artificially the natural odor that would be lost through anti-hydrocarbonation.

If you happen to be growing oaks, the spray might be somewhat incongruous. But a pine-scented oak tree is a small price to pay for cleaner air.

Herald opinion

State bond plan can supply jobs

Gov. Daniel Walker has presented an economic proposal to the Illinois legislature which deserves to be considered seriously without regard to political advantage.

The governor has proposed a $4.5 billion building program which he says would provide 60,000 jobs and give the state needed highway improvements, pollution control measures, added recreation facilities and school renovations.

Walker's proposal is contingent upon the sale of about $2 billion in general obligation and revenue bonds per year. That is a whopping debt to undertake, but the general financial and credit status of the State of Illinois appears to justify it.

In addition to alleviating an increasingly bleak employment picture in Illinois, implementation of the governor's program would constitute a shot of adrenalin to a suffering economy. It is difficult to imagine when such a stimulus could be more timely.

As may have been expected, there have been partisan reactions against the governor's proposal. Walker has been accused of seeking to convert the general financial gloom into a stepping stone for his own political gains.

He may in fact benefit politically if the program he espouses is implemented, and works. Walker declared his program would help reverse the state's "economic slide" and provide lasting benefits in public works.

If the program does what he says, Walker undoubtedly will enjoy added stature politically. But if it does what he says, then the enhanced stature will be deserved.

Regardless of what benefits may or may not accrue to Daniel Walker, the Illinois General Assembly should consider his proposals with an open mind. There is no excuse in the troubled economic conditions under which we are all laboring for any obstructionism of what could prove to be a significant contribution to easing those conditions.

CIA review supported

Now it's up to the U.S. Senate to give us a tough and uncompromised look at how this nation's federal spy agencies operate under federal law and the Constitution.

Last Monday the Senate voted, 82 to 4, to approve a Watergate-style special committee to conduct a full-scale investigation of the Central Intelligence Agency and other such units.

Since President Ford's creation of the Rockefeller commission to review the CIA — in the wake of allegations of domestic spying — we've been dissatisified with that group's membership. Too many of Ford's appointments have intimate ties to the intelligence community, and such ties cloud the possibility of an objective investigation.

Congress has a legal and often neglected responsibility for supervising the CIA, and a special committee is now best equipped to do that job. Frank Church, D-Idaho, who Wednesday was named chairman, recently led a committee investigation into the CIA's role in Chile; that will help qualify him for his new task.

This must be a sober investigation that respects CIA's necessary secrets, while avoiding political grandstanding that could mar the committee's important task.

We're counting on the committee to produce a full, fair and critical review of how the CIA and other intelligence agencies are meeting their responsibilities under law. It's a good opportunity to revamp this nation's intelligence operations, if necessary.

That's coor-age!

It's no surprise that the military-like discipline of the Secret Service endures under most of the pressures of guarding our nation's leaders. But subject it to a single brand of beer, and it collapses.

Coors, of course, is no ordinary brand of beer, for the universally popular light-bodied Colorado brew is sold only on the West Coast.

That's why a Secret Service agent assigned to fly with the globe-trotting Henry Kissinger recently smuggled 40 cases of Coors back to Washington, D. C.

The incident is being "taken under review," according to the Secret Service. We implore this misguided agent's superiors to rap him on the knuckles, but, however sharp the rap, he should keep his beer. After all, he deserves a tall cold beer for his misguided courage.

She backs manager system

Fence post
letters to the editor

Since my nomination as a candidate for village trustee by the Arlington Heights Caucus, certain newspaper columns have attributed to me an "anti-administration" stance. I feel it is important to clarify my position which was made plain in my speech before the Caucus.

I strongly support the village manager system of government now and have for many years. It is important that we do have competent technical assistance in the day-to-day operation of the village government. I agreed to adhere to the "Statement of Purpose" of the Arlington Heights Caucus which contains the following objective and goal, "Support a village manager form of government, embodying a board of trustees elected from the village at large, with the village administration accountable to the board and the board accountable to its constituency for the performance of the village administration."

I also made plain in my speech that the policy-making function is the province of the board of trustees and it is their responsibility to see to it that policy is carried out by the village manager who is then in charge of the administrative functioning.

Section 5-3-6, Chapter 24, of the Illinois Statutes (Illinois Municipal Code) says that the powers of the village board, "shall be purely legislative," except as indicated in other sections of the code. Section 5-3-7 says that the municipal manager, ". . . shall be the administrative head of the municipal government and . . . shall be responsible for the efficient administration of all departments."

I agree with this thoroughly.

In a previous speech I said, "In Arlington Heights, a village manager form of government, the manager and his staff have certain responsibilities and rights. The administration must carry out the policies that have been set by the board of trustees, see that the laws of the village are lived up to and administered equally and treat all citizens with fairness, consideration, and courtesy. The staff has the right to good working conditions and decent salaries for a job well done." I support wholeheartedly the village staff and their competence in carrying out their jobs.

If elected, I plan to live up to the letter of the law in the Illinois statutes as it pertains to the division of policy-making powers and administrative powers. I believe that there is evidence in the past, during my five years on the plan commission, that I will not meddle in administration matters. Conversely, I believe that the manager has the responsibility not to take upon himself the making of policy.

In a recent letter to his constituency, Philip Crane, our Congressman, makes a strong point of the division of legislative responsibility to make policy and the executive responsibility to carry it out. It is the same in Arlington Heights.

I see my job as a village trustee to be responsive to citizens, to treat everyone fairly and equally, and to work hard along with fellow trustees, village employes and all citizens toward solutions to our problems. In this way we can all help to keep Arlington Heights a pleasant, comfortable, beautiful place to live for us and our children.

It's 'irresponsible' to build new library

Your Herald editorial which appeared on Jan. 17 entitled "Voting is not enough" prompted me to write to the Fence Post.

It seems irresponsible for the Village of Mount Prospect to build a $3.2 million library in 1975.

We may need to expand the present facilities in the near future. However, we are closing one, possibly two, of our schools to cut expenses and because the enrollment is decreasing. The federal government has subsidized the library facilities in all of our schools so that they are better than ever before. The boundaries of our village are such that we do not anticipate a tremendous population increase.

No referendum has been offered to the taxpayers as to whether or not they want to support and pay for this library. Why?

It seems almost as depressing and hopeless as having our school board sell Central Junior High School — after several referendums were conducted and the taxpayers voted "no" every time. Then the village bought the school back for more than twice what our school board sold it for, so it could be torn down to make room for a $3.2 million library that we can't even vote against at a time when we are being financially pressed on all sides by the worst inflation of my generation, and possible of all time.

Politicos and project-oriented persons scream "apathy" of the voting public. My personal opinion is that they welcome it and are, in fact, the very reason for it. Is it any surprise that there has been little or no comment on the library project?

Construction begins in April, so what good does it do to comment or oppose?

Ford considers extension

Amnesty plan ends today

by DAVID E. ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — President Ford is under pressure to extend his controversial "earned re-entry" program for Vietnam-era draft violators and military deserters beyond the Jan. 31 expiration date.

The pressure is coming both from Congress, where Sen. Edward M. Kennedy has asked for an extension of the program, and from the presidentially appointed Clemency Board, which handles the cases of persons already convicted of draft violations and AWOL-related offenses.

Even though board chairman Charles Goodel has consistently said he does not believe Ford will extend the program, the board has put together a unanimous memorandum for the President urging an up to six month extension of the program.

In his Jan. 21 press conference — just 10 days before the end of the program — Ford indicated only that he was considering an extension.

Even if Ford does grant an extension, there is a growing feeling that the program, aimed at the reconciliation of Vietnam generation opponents of the war, has failed.

Ford's offer of clemency has failed to generate any kind of significant response from its potential clientele with one exception — deserters and AWOL's who have not yet been apprehended.

Military officials involved with that part of the program say response to Ford's offer of reconciliation after a period of alternate service may run as high as one third of those eligible before the program ends.

But the other two parts of the three-pronged program — unconvicted civilian draft violators handled by the Justice Department, and the already convicted civilian and military personnel, handled by the Clemency Board — have met only a miniscule response from their potential clientele.

On the other hand, Goodell's board received what he called "a tremendous upsurge" in applicants after it began an intensive publicity campaign to get information out to potential beneficiaries of the program.

At the same time, Goodell says applicants to his program do not fit the stereotype of the typical war resister but instead were motivated toward draft violations by personal reasons rather than antiwar sentiments.

People in the antiwar movement generally agree but add the caveat that the "more genuine" war resisters are sitting tight and that is a prime reason for the low response to the program.

In their view, that puts the ball in the Congress' park.

Before Ford announced his limited amnesty program last Sept. 16, Congress had before it nearly a dozen bills dealing with the question of amnesty.

Although hearings were held on the subject, impeachment, the Rockefeller nomination and Ford's economic program all moved the issue to the back burner.

At least one bill, calling for a universal and unconditional amnesty — an amnesty with no strings attached — has already been introduced and Rep. Robert Kastenmeier, D-Wis., head of the House Judiciary subcommittee with jurisdiction over the issue, has indicated he will hold hearings as early as possible.

Proponents of an unconditional amnesty believe their best hope lies with Congress — a Congress they believe will be more liberal and more antiwar and thus more likely to attempt to put "closed" stamp on the Vietnam-era resistance movement.

The almanac

Today is Friday, Jan. 31, the 31st day of 1975 with 334 to follow.

The moon is approaching its last quarter.

The morning star is Mars.

The evening stars are Mercury, Venus, Jupiter and Saturn.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Aquarius.

American entertainers Eddie Cantor and Garry Moore were born on Jan. 31 — Cantor in 1892 and Moore in 1915.

On this day in history:

- In 1950, President Harry Truman disclosed he had ordered development of the hydrogen thermonuclear bomb.
- In 1958, Explorer 1, the first U.S. earth satellite, launched from the Cape Canaveral missle test center.
- In 1961, Ham, a male chimpanzee, was rocketed into space in a test of the Project Mercury capsule later to carry an American astronaut into orbit.
- In 1971, with three astronauts aboard, the Apollo 14 spacecraft blasted off for the moon.

A thought for the day: American novelist Christopher Morley said, "The enemies of the future are always the very nicest people."

Crane resubmits economy proposals

U.S. Rep. Philip M. Crane, R-12th, has reintroduced a number of economic measures to the 84th Congress that he sponsored unsuccessfully in previous sessions.

Among them is a proposed constitutional amendment which would require a balanced federal budget, except in times of war or national emergency.

Another Crane bill would provide "indexing" for federal taxes designed to provide economic relief through tax adjustments based on the rising cost of living.

Crane also has introduced legislation that would remove restrictions on the amount of income that may be earned by persons receiving Social Security payments. Present law allows persons collecting Social Security to earn no more than $2,400 per year.

Fire, ambulance bill urged

Legislation aimed at extending fire protection and emergency ambulance service to all unincorporated areas of the state has been introduced in the Illinois General Assembly by Sen. David J. Regner, R-Mount Prospect.

The bill would give township boards of auditors authority to contract with counties or municipalities to provide the services to areas not served by fire protection districts. In January 1974, an Elk Grove Village resident, Mrs. Jean Pettee, died en route to a hospital after the Elk Grove Village Fire Dept. had declined to respond to an ambulance call at her home. The Pettee family, which lived in an unincorporated area, had not accepted an ambulance-service contract offered by the department to residents of unincorporated areas.

Regner's bill would give townships authority to levy a tax in the unincorporated areas to cover the cost of the emergency services.

10th District jobless rolls up

Residents of the North Shore 10th Congressional District seeking unemployment benefits rose nearly 87 per cent in the first three weeks of this year, said U.S. Rep. Abner J. Mikva, D-10th.

Statistics compiled by the Illinois Bureau of Employment Security showed that 5,319 residents of the district applied for benefits in the first three weeks of 1975, Mikva said. The total for all of 1974 was 2,852. Mikva also pointed out that the new Emergency Jobs and Unemployment Assistance Act, which took effect Dec. 31, provides unemployment benefits to many persons not previously eligible.

Persons seeking information on their eligibility may call 800-972-5780, toll free.

Dem committeemen set parley

More than half of the 30 Democratic township committeemen in Cook County have accepted an invitation to a meeting in Elk Grove Village on Saturday, Feb. 8, to discuss means of expanding their influence in the affairs of the party at the county and state levels.

The meeting is being organized by Wheeling Township Committeeman Donald L. Norman and Elk Grove Township Committeeman William B. Rose. The Committeemen will gather for a luncheon at Rose's Maitre D' Restaurant in Elk Grove Village.

Palatine Township Committeeman Richard A. Mugalian has proposed that the meeting be opened to the public and the press, although Norman has indicated he prefers a closed meeting to encourage frankness from the suburban committee.

Crane youth group to meet

The Phil Crane Youth Caucus will hold its first meeting from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 9, at the Arlington Heights Public Library.

The group is a successor to the Youth for Crane organization which worked for the reelection of U.S. Rep. Philip M. Crane, R-12th, who will speak at the meeting. Also speaking will be Paul Johnson of the Omega Group, a consulting organization employed by conservative political candidates.

More than 50 young people interested in Crane's philosophy of "limited government and a free economy" are expected to attend, according to Richard Burnham of Elk Grove Village, one of the organizers of the group.

On Friday, Feb. 7, Crane will address a luncheon of the Elk Grove Association of Industry and Commerce at the Navarone Steak House, 1905 E. Higgins Rd., Elk Grove Village.

Movers' strike over next week?

A strike of moving van drivers in the Chicago area is expected to end early next week, according to unofficial sources from both labor and management.

The strike, which began two weeks ago today, has been held by Teamsters Local 705 against the 70-member Movers Assn. of Greater Chicago.

Reports on the strike indicate that as many as 1,000 families have been disrupted in their plans to move. Contracts for moves in and out of the state have been canceled because of the strike. However, persons planning moves within the Chicago area have been able to contract with independent movers unaffected by the strike.

A THREE-YEAR contract offered by the movers association will increase the $6.14 base pay by 60 cents in the first year, according to a fact sheet the association sent its membership.

The contract also offers a 50-cents-per-hour increase in the second year and 50 cents in the third year. The union had demanded 75 cents, 60 cents and 60 cents.

The compromise worked out includes an additional cost of living increase provision, said John Moch, a picketer at George W. Noffs Moving and Storage Inc., Arlington Heights.

OTHER TERMS OF the new contract include provisions for a 40-hour wage guarantee to men specified as regular employes, dental and optical coverage for union members and five weeks vacation after 20 years. A floating holiday, date to be set later, and a 40 per cent increase in over-the-road daily expenses also is to be provided, according to the movers' association fact sheet.

Jim Beam, a manager in the Noffs office, said he has heard ballots are to be mailed to union members shortly. They could possibly be returned early enough to allow workmen back on their jobs early next week, he added.

Official spokesmen from both the union and the movers' association were unavailable, reportedly because they were attending a meeting Thursday to work out final terms of the contract proposal.

Area bands to play at U of I Saturday

Several local high school and junior high school orchestras will participate Saturday in the University of Illinois all-day string and orchestra consortium.

The program will be from 8 a.m. to 5:15 p.m. in the university's Krannert Center for the Performing Arts at Urbana-Champaign. The programs are open to the public at no charge.

Local groups performing include High School Dist. 214 North orchestra, 10:10 a.m., Bruce Fowler, director; Maine South High School, Park Ridge, 11 a.m., Lloyd Spear, director; Palatine High School, 4:05 p.m., Roy Houck and Corrine Dyduch, directors; Maine East High School, Park Ridge, 8 a.m., Thomas Hageman, director and Grove and Lovely junior high schools, Elk Grove Village, 9:20 a.m., James Middleton, director.

THESE ARE THE bobbins required to make bobbin lace. Two of them are held in the hand almost always in completing a pair of necessary movements, twist and cross.

Photos by Jim Frost

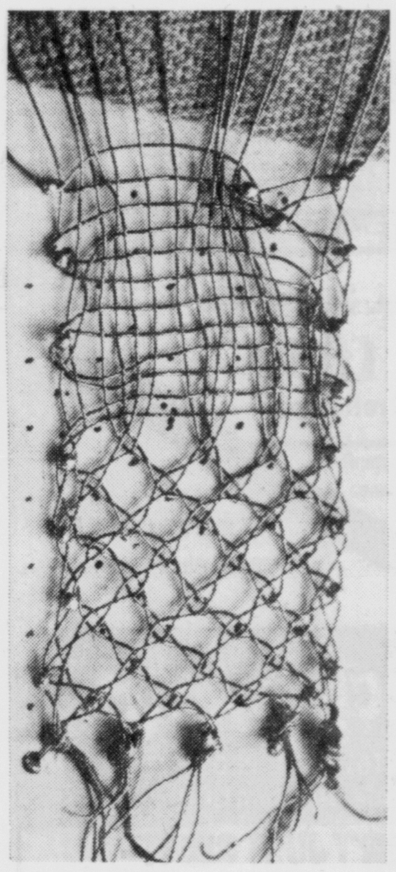
AT A WORKSHOP recently sponsored by Countryside Art Center, Mrs. Virginia Churchill Bath, who has written two books on lace making, displays what can be fashioned from the technique of bobbin lace. The pattern for this bird appears in her most recent book, "Lace." Mrs. Bath is currently doing research for a third book.



A CLOSE-UP OF bobbin lace shows that the pattern usually always progresses on the diagonal. Circles can be made though they are much more difficult to learn.

LACE MAKING can be functional and contemporary too. This hat was designed in pieces utilizing the principles of needle lace. A knitted band holds the hat together.

Lace making...

Not fuss nor frills but art

by GENIE CAMPBELL

Lace. How I misjudged it. Louis XIV in a Venetian lace collar. That's what I was prone to picture, or the fancy hanky my grandmother carried. It was the dainty old-fashioned doilie or the trim on the hem of a petticoat. Frivolous, fussy, girlish and always white. I never wanted any part of it. Besides next to the skin it always itched.

While lace has been mislabled and too narrowly categorized all these years by generations handing down a limited definition of lace to the next generation who knows no better either, the age-old craft of lace-making is receiving renewed recognition as textiles in general become an important form of art.

Still the title of Virginia Churchill Bath's new book, "Lace," raises many a naive eyebrow. But open the cover. She deals directly with intricate wall hangings, not impractical, hard-to-iron handkerchiefs.

"LACE ITSELF is a technique and not an end result," explained Mrs. Bath recently at a workshop sponsored by Countryside Art Center. Knotted netting, which is what lace may be called occasionally, macrame and forms of embroidery may all be utilized together or singly in textile art.

Mrs. Bath, who resigned two years ago as assistant curator of textiles at the Art Institute of Chicago to devote more time to private research and writing in the same field, demonstrated to those attending the workshop two different ways of making lace, bobbin lace and needle lace.

The first combines a simple pair of movements, twist and cross just as knitting is associated with knit and purl. In fact, Mrs. Bath recommended bobbin lace for people who enjoy knitting, needle lace for those who prefer embroidering. The latter, though worked in a free form, is based on the simple buttonhole stitch.

A variety of weighted yarns, threads and strings lend texture and strength to a wall hanging and it is possible to work as fine as a spider's web or in a heavier, bulkier fashion that might even incorporate found objects such as shells and other castoffs of nature.

MRS. BATH'S book, "Lace," is in fact rather complicated and geared to the professional artist looking for a new dimension in the textiles rather than the home hobbyist searching for a new craft to learn.

She will readily admit the book is not for everyone though she herself is self-taught and learned everything from books prior to writing hers.

"There has always been a certain amount of interest in weaving and embroidery and this was my reason for writing the book," she said. And knowing this interest is expanding rapidly has prompted her to begin another.

Even though textiles are increasingly becoming recognized as an art form, the average art museum does not have a wide enough exhibiting scope to be able to include a separate department just for textiles, according to Mrs. Bath.

Often textiles are lumped together with all of the decorative arts. The Art Institute is one exception having a fine permanent collection of textiles housed in its own individual department.

MRS. BATH, who resides in Beecher, Ill., for many years lectured at the Art Institute where she also received a degree in painting. Yet her work in the textile field she's done all on her own, having had only one formal course in weaving.

"My mother was a professional woman. She didn't even sew at home and I never had a grandmother who crocheted. I truly just picked it up."

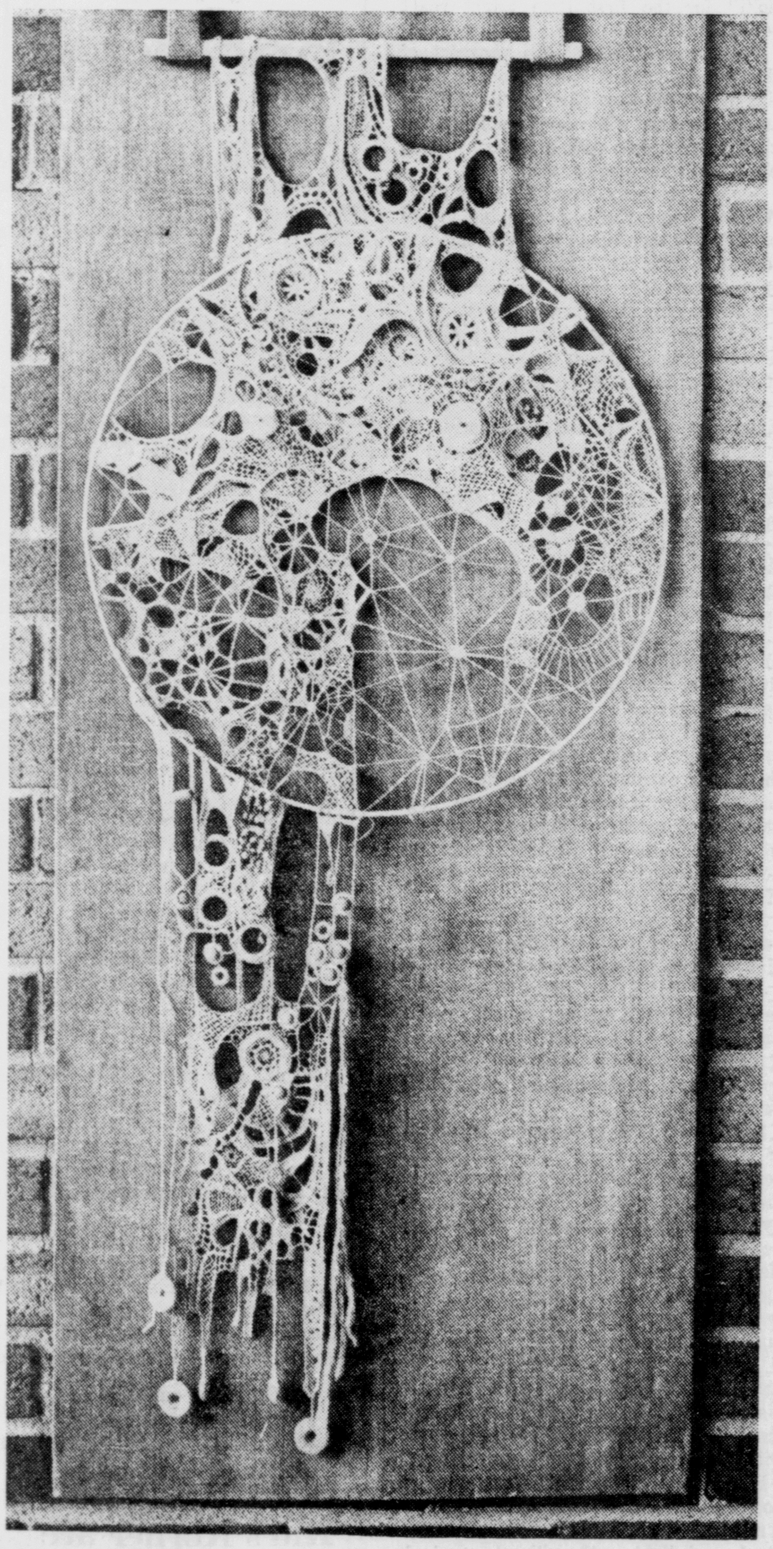
In addition to "Lace," Mrs. Bath has published another work, "Embroidery Masterworks."

The greater emphasis on textiles, specifically lace making, is having a healthy effect on the field in general, Mrs. Bath believes.

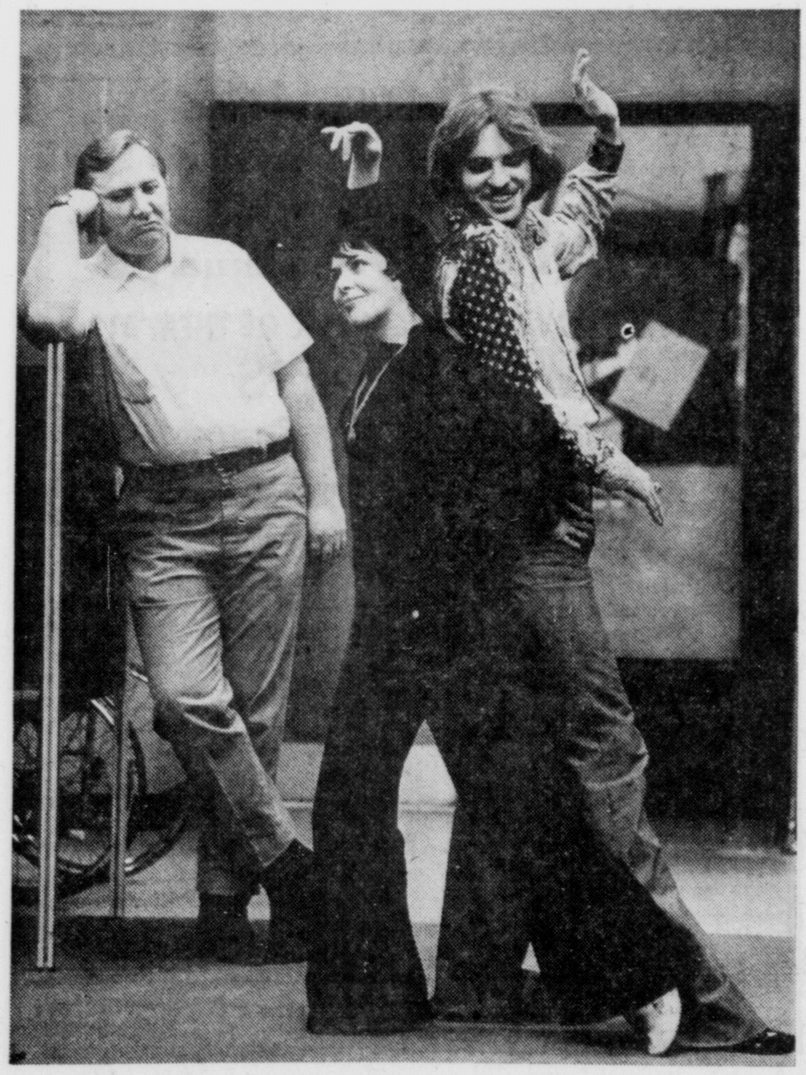
"Just the fact more people are working will improve the level of design and, also, develop a further interest in what's already been done in the past."

And this doesn't necessarily concern at all Louis XIV's lacy cravat.

Countryside Art Center in Arlington Heights is planning a special exhibit of textiles for March.



WALL HANGINGS such as this one by Mrs. Bath are fashioned in a free form using the technique of needle lace. Small areas are tacked separately, then woven together. It is mounted on plain fabric.



GARY MAY seems less than enthusiastic as he watches his mistress, played by Joann Wolf, tango with his competitor, played by Bob Maidel, in "Ring Round the Moon," a romantic comedy being staged by Friends of Schaumburg Township Library. The play opens in the library theater next Friday evening. Curtain time is 8:30. Ticket information, 529-1732. Miss Wolf, May and Maidel all live in Schaumburg.

Leo Sayer's voice a distinctive one

Playback
by Tom Von Malder

Leo Sayer is a young Englishman who writes very autobiographic songs and has a very distinct voice.

His second album, "Just a Boy" (Warner Bros. records), is every bit as fine as his debut last year, "Silverbird" (also Warner Bros.).

Sayer's voice has a very wide range and can go delightfully near out of control in the space of a couple of notes. His voice is every bit as distinctive as say Rod Stewart's, although Stewart's is much more gravelly.

As for his songwriting, a good example is "The Show Must Go On" which made it to the top of the charts in America when it was recorded by Three Dog

Leo Sayer

Night last year. Another example was Sayer's writing for Roger Daltrey's 1973 solo album (Daltrey is the Who's lead singer).

In "Just a Boy," Sayer has chosen to record two of the songs he wrote for Daltrey. They are "One Man Band" (which was an English hit for both Daltrey and Sayer) and "Giving It All Away," from which the album's title comes.

ANOTHER SONG, "Another Time," is a somewhat frightening look at the disorientation that results from being a performer always on the move and a sad love song. His most recent English hit, "Long Tall Glasses," is a change of pace from the autobiographic material and has a deliberate Bob Dylan air. Sayer calls the song a "skit."

On the whole, "Just a Boy" features less instrumentation than did "Silverbird" and the paring down works well. Perhaps this is another aspect of Sayer's deliberate effort at avoiding the overnight sensation only to fade in the morning pattern of instant stardom. He did become the overnight sensation — particularly in England where, for example, "Just a Boy" was No. 3 on the charts in its third week of release. Sayer let a full year go by between the two albums in an effort to pace his career.

TO PICK UP on my country album column of two weeks ago, here are my reactions to three other albums recently out.

Loretta Lynn has another good album in "They Don't Make 'Em Like My Daddy" (MCA records), with her brash, sassy vocals always at the fore.

Both the title track and her recent single, "Trouble In Paradise" (written by Kenny O'Dell, author of "Behind Closed Doors" and rapidly becoming one of the best country songwriters), are highlights of the album. She also does fine with four recent country hits — Tom T. Hall's "I Love," "Behind Closed Doors," Conway Twitty's "I've Never Been This Far Before" and a superb version of "If You Love Me (Let Me Know)."

Two recent disappointments in the country music field are Lynn Anderson's undistinguished "What a Man My Man Is" (Columbia records) and the Hagers' "The Hagers" (Elektra records).

MISS ANDERSON appears to be trying too hard for a pop audience and the album's arrangements seem more suited for Andy Williams than a country singer. "Tell Me a Lie" and "Someone To Finish What You Started" are about its only saving graces.

The Hagers' problem is that co-producer Mike Curb is trying to make the brothers into a today version of the Everly Brothers and it just doesn't work. Only four of the album's nine songs are country, with one of these — "Old Fashioned Girl" — being the album's best song. The rest are semi-rockers that go nowhere, including Gene Pitney's "Love My Life Away."

Sports writer tuned out on Solti and his music

The book stall

"SEASON WITH SOLTI"
WILLIAM BARRY FURLONG
MacMillan $12.50

A music lover picking up "Season With Solti" for the first time might react something like this:

First, excitement at the prospect of this unique book delving into the daily life of the maestro Georg Solti and the world-renowned Chicago Symphony Orchestra, complete with a gallery of fine black-and-white photographs.

Second, curiosity regarding the author, William Barry Furlong. Flipping to the back jacket, one reads that Furlong is a columnist with The Washington Post and is co-author with Arnold Palmer of "Go For Broke!" In short, a sports writer.

And then, reading about the preparation of the book, which involved Furlong shadowing Solti and the orchestra for a year, one comes to the rather unsettling conclusion that Furlong apparently has not a shred of music in his background to qualify him for this particular task, and one wonders what his motivation could possibly have been. Why the Chicago Symphony Orchestra? Why not the Bears, or the Cubs, or the Blackhawks? Surely they, too, must spend an interesting year.

NEVERTHELESS, HERE is the book, and MacMillan has done a most attractive job of packaging the text. So, one eagerly digs in.

Personal taste will, of course, dictate each reader's experience from here, but this music devotee quickly bogged down. Indeed, it would seem that only the most intrepid of music trivia lovers will be able to plow through Furlong's tediously detailed, 364-page (small type) account of his observations.

Actually, the book probably would have come off more readable if Furlong had stuck to typical sports-style writing — breezy and to the point. Instead, he seems to become enamored of his prose and gets hung up in lengthy, overdone sentences about how the grass looked on opening night at Ravinia and other such irrelevancies.

FURLONG HAS produced a catalogue of information on the individual members of the symphony (for example, that the principal bassoon player is plagued by cold sores, the principal tuba player has asthma and famed trumpeter Adolph Herseth suffered severe injuries to his mouth in an auto accident years ago that required him to learn a new way of playing his trumpet), and about the man Solti, and about the logistics of the symphony's performances. He also provides historical background, and some musical insight, apparently based on interviews with Solti and members of the orchestra.

But as professional music critics have noted, Furlong has made several factual errors in this book and has not really shed much light on the ultimate musical questions concerning the symphony and Solti.

And anyone interested enough in music to tackle this tome is probably going to be looking for something along those lines.

"THE LAZY MAN'S GUIDE TO PHYSICAL FITNESS"
BY KENNETH D. ROSE, M.D.,
WITH JACK DIES MARTIN
Great Lakes Living Press, $4.95

Dr. Kenneth Rose adds yet another volume to the already bulging stacks of published works telling people how to lose weight and stay fit.

Yet while others use slim, attractive bodies as enticing placebos and promise new exciting lifestyles to match, Dr. Rose, former chairman of the AMA Committee on Exercise and Physical Fitness, is more concerned how one feels rather than looks. And that's comforting.

But forget the "Lazy Man" in the title. Nothing is easy. Dr. Rose admits, "the title is only an eye catcher to attract the busy man and woman." It will still require effort, but Dr. Rose adds, "the least amount of effort for the greatest reward."

But anyway you look at it, the truth remains, you'll only get as much out of the program as you put into it. And in that respect this book is like all the others that many desperate but unresolved dieters have already discarded.

HOWEVER, DR. ROSE'S formula might compel many to reform who wouldn't otherwise find the will power on their own. Daily jogging programs, swimming, calisthenics are fine he says, but most people never stick with any strenuous exercise program very long.

He attempts to awaken people's consciousness by urging them to use the stairs instead of an elevator, walking briskly a few blocks instead of taking the car.

He points out, for instance, that gardening for one hour will burn up 220 callories, 10 more than riding a bike in that same period of time.

Exercise is his main ploy to physical fitness and he offers simple basic

Players' Den Theatre opening Feb. 14

Grand opening for the Players of Schaumburg's new Den Dinner-Theatre at The Den Restaurant in Schaumburg is set for Feb. 14. "The Prisoner of Second Avenue" by Broadway's prolific playwright Neil Simon is the featured production.

The Players are the first community group in this area to obtain rights to perform this comedy about a New York executive who loses his job and is fighting a losing battle with the environment. Yet the executive and his wife have the resilience and grit to survive. Simon is able to take a serious theme and treat it with hearty but sympathetic humor.

Production dates for "Prisoner of Second Avenue" are Feb. 14, 15, 21, 22, 28 and March 1, 7 and 8. Dinner will offer a choice of four entrees, including steak and lobster tail, with complimentary wine served from 6:30 to 8 p.m. Curtain goes up at 8:45.

For opening weekend, in recognition of Valentine's Day, women in the audience will receive complimentary flowers.

He currently is The Players' co-producer and treasurer.

Production staff for "Prisoner of Second Avenue" includes Sonja Leraas, Schaumburg, Producer; April Nomellini, Schaumburg, assistant director; Lois Northway, Glendale Heights, costumes; Lynda Sears, Mount Prospect, properties; Tom McAvoy, Chicago, set construction, lighting and sound; Gail Cooper, Hanover Park, box office; Sue Jersey, Palatine, tickets.

LBJ's limousine exhibited at car museum

Former President Lyndon B. Johnson's personal limousine will go on permanent display Saturday at the Chicago Historical Antique Automobile Museum in Highland Park.

The LBJ limo will replace Adolph Hitler's personal limousine which is going on tour.

President Johnson's car is a custom-built 1965 Lehman-Peterson Lincoln Continental built especially for heads of state.

It features many custom items including writing console, TV, two bars, two stereos, two air conditioners and special reading lights. But according to J.J. Born, president of the museum, its most unusual feature is the interior, done in blue plaid.

"President Johnson was extremely fond of blue plaid we have been told, and this was even carried out in his limousine," said Born. The exterior of the limousine is black lacquer.

The Johnson limo will be parked right next to the 1929 Packard touring car owned by Chicago's former mayor "Big Bill" Thompson.

The museum is located on U.S. 41, one mile north of Route 22 in Highland Park. It is open seven days a week from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Admission is $2 for adults, $1 for children.

Harper hosting lithography show

An exhibit of 27 prints and drawings by a Northern Illinois University art professor is now on display on the first floor of Building F at Harper College, Palatine.

The artist, Robert Bornhuetter, displays humorous and serious ideas, political commentary and abstract themes in a variety of subject matter. The bulk of his exhibit is in lithography, with several silver point drawings and one mixed media drawing. Most are available for purchase.

Bornhuetter heads the graduate art program at NIU and is a moving force in the print group called NI-9. Primarily a printmaker and teacher of printmaking, he is also a skillful draftsman and painter. He has been a participant in more than 100 national and regional professional varied exhibitions.

The exhibit runs through Feb. 17 and may be seen weekdays from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Conductor to perform

Band conductor Arthur Katterjohn will be performer as well as conductor when Palatine Concert Band presents its next winter concert Sunday, Feb. 9, at Hoffman Estates High School.

Katterjohn, who is also conductor of the Wheaton College Band and Orchestra, will play the seldom heard E-flat trumpet in Hadyn's "Concerto for Trumpet."

The rest of the program will include Tschaikowy's "1812 Overture," Bach's "Toccata and Fugue in D Minor" originally written for organ, Caesar Giovannini's "Jubilance," the "Centennial Fanfare-March" by Roger Nixon, "Ballet for Young Americans" by Ralph Hermann, the familiar "Danny Boy" and the folk song "English Morris Dance" by Percy Grainger.

The concert begins at 7:30 p.m. Information, 398-7013.

Jerry Van Dyke riotous comedy treat

by GENIE CAMPBELL

When the funny bone gets a terrific workout, there's no doubt comedy is still the greatest form of entertainment around.

And where do you go if you're in need of some good laughs right about now? The TOP OF THE TOWERS of ARLINGTON PARK HILTON where JERRY VAN DYKE is dishing out a barrelful.

He'll keep you continually chuckling in a madcap, zany kind of show that's so comfortable and natural, you don't even have to work at being entertained.

Jerry virtually takes off and begins talking about the time he broke his leg and sewed zippers in all his pants, about his hometown of Danville and his famous brother Dick — "I didn't want to be a big star anyhow and it's working out real well" — and just about anything else that appears to come to his mind.

When Van Dyke is not up there explaining why he chose not to wear a tuxedo and what a pleasure it is to be almost back in Chicago, he's fooling around with his banjo minus one string.

In between ribbing the audience, he does manage to work in several choruses of "Dueling Banjos" and "Bye Bye Blues" though when the playing really gets serious, Van Dyke leaves the stage altogether to let his comrade SKIP DeVOL, who leads the backup group, Sound Friendship, demonstrate what good banjo playing really is. All kidding is put aside for DeVol's fast and furious exhibition. And rightly so.

Yet the climax of the show is Van Dyke, back again in center stage doing his famous take-off on Frankie Laine's "Mule Train."

Van Dyke, in hillbilly hat and false buck teeth, takes a shoelace whip to the stuffed donkey he positions in front of him and mimics the words to Laine's record. I know it doesn't sound all that hilarious, but it is. The entire show is like that. You're never sure what's so darn funny; you're just convinced it really is.

CANDLELIGHT DINNER PLAYHOUSE recently replaced its long running production of "Sound of Music" with another super colossal musical, "CAROUSEL."

Despite the show's length (I can't understand why some director doesn't have the guts to cut out some of Rodgers and Hammerstein's reprieves that after a while just get sing-song) "Carousel" has been artistically adorned to rescue it from antiquity.

Yes, the whole story about a young, naive mill girl who falls for a roguish carnival barker is rather hokey, at best schmaltzy, but for those romanticists left, it can also bring a tear to the eye.

And there is that favorite musical score which includes "June Is Bustin' Out All Over," "You'll Never Walk Alone" and "If I Loved You." Personally I go for more obscure numbers like "Hornpipe" and "Mr. Snow" which, of course, are less well known but also less worn out.

Colorful and animated, this show is a good one for the kids who will get a kick out of the set design and clever props. Even the costuming is something to admire, though why they put REBECCA CLEMENTS in such a complicated getup with a hairdo that all but hides her face, I'll never know.

And unfortunately, the role of Julie Jordan, though a starring one, is not as powerful as the role Miss Clements had in "Sound of Music." And she doesn't get to show off her voice as much either.

But LEE PELTY does, and he steals the show playing the rather ruthless, caddish Billy Bigelow. In "Sound of Music" he played second fiddle to Rebecca Clements, so all is justified.

If "Carousel" is your bag, and it is for many people, then by all means catch this show. You do get your money's worth.

JOHN CARRADINE has been signed to star as the sinister Jonathan Brewster with EVA and ZSA ZSA GABOR in "ARSENIC AND OLD LACE" opening Feb. 21 at ARLINGTON PARK THEATRE. And this in itself might make the comedy worth seeing.

CROCHETY Tom Garrison, played by Art Hassel, Arlington Heights, orders his martini "six to one" and a Dubonnet for his boy, Gene, played by Bob Johnson, Elk Grove Village, in Masque and Staff's production of "I Never Sang for My Father," opening Feb. 7.

'I Never Sang for My Father' plays at Dempster Jr. High

"I Never Sang for my Father," a poignant drama about a man's contribution over being unable to give all the love and attention demanded by his aged, crotchety father, will be presented by Masque and Staff starting Friday, Feb. 7.

Staged at Dempster Junior High in Mount Prospect, the play will be performed also on Feb. 8, 14 and 15.

Bob Johnson of Elk Grove Village plays the 40-year-old college teacher who keeps trying desperately to be a dutiful son to his crusty, octogenarian father, only to be defeated by the old man's selfishness and petulance. Art Hassel of Arlington Heights has the role of the domineering old man.

The father has banished his daughter for having married a Jew, bullied his wife before her death and patronized the son, also a widower who wants to move away to marry again. He finally does leave and at the father's death, is filled with contrition for never having really loved his father.

Shirley Johnson is directing the production.

Tickets are $3 with a $1.50 rate for students.

stretching and flexing exercises that should be done every day. It won't take long, 10 minutes or so, but they do have to be done to get results.

His diet might also be palatable to many starvation drop-outs: "What's the sense of living if I can't have a piece of chocolate cake or a candy bar now and then?" Dr. Rose feels the same way they do.

HE RECOMMENDS splitting up the week into four days of normal eating and three days of dieting to compensate. The next week, it's four of dieting and three of eating normally. And his sample menus are most liberal even on the diet days.

Furthermore, Dr. Rose not only explains how and what to do, he tells you why, explaining fully in layman's terms the job of the heart and lungs. He discusses the whole vitamin issue, whether you need supplements or don't, and even includes a chapter on how to quit smoking. That's not good for the body either.

And if you're still not convinced, Dr. Rose brags about his own active life at age 62.

There is nothing faddish about "The Lazy Man's Guide to Physical Fitness." The information is straightforward and sensible. Need a new approach? It might be the answer. After all you can still have your cake and weight loss, too.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L Ø W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

The doctor says

by Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Small bruises not serious

I bruise easily, mostly in my legs. My veins seem to be close to my skin, yet my skin is very tough and it doesn't break through. My blood clots normally. One time my physician gave me vitamin C in heavy doses, but it did nothing for that problem, so I stopped it.

Most of the leg bruises clear up within a week's time. Deeper ones take longer. I sometimes wonder if something else is wrong. Are the vein walls thick enough? Can this clotted blood be dangerous? Can it cause a stroke or other results?

The garden variety of small bruises are caused by injury to the smallest blood vessels. The smaller veins are very thin-walled and the larger ones have thicker walls that don't rupture so easily.

The injured small vessels leak a small amount of blood out into the tissues and this is the bruise. The size and length of time it stays is affected by how much blood leaks out.

Some people with frequent small bruises do have inherently thin-walled, easily broken, small blood vessels. The tiny blood vessels can also be affected by disease. Scurvy, from lack of vitamin C, can cause these small blood vessels to break easily and then there is bleeding from the gingiva (gums) around the teeth and bleeding tendencies in the body. It is true that some cases of multiple broken small veins are caused by lack of vitamin C. In these instances large doses of vitamin C are helpful. If the person is already getting adequate amounts of vitamin C, taking more won't help solve the multiple bruises problem.

Besides the defects or weakness in the small blood vessels that can occur, things can go wrong with the blood clotting mechanism, causing easy bruising.

Normally blood clotting depends upon vitamin K, calcium, complex enzymes in the blood, the tiny blood platelets, and the blood protein called fibrinogen. When the clotting mechanism is triggered, the fibrinogen is converted to fibrin, which then is tiny gelatinous fibers that form a matted material for the clot. Red blood cells are trapped within the fibers.

MANY COMPLEX tests are needed to determine the nature of the problem. Sometimes it is an inherited defect, as seen in the royal families of Europe. In other instances a defect can be caused by some other disease. Here a common example is liver disease. The liver is important in forming substances needed to induce normal clotting. A jaundiced person commonly has a bleeding tendency.

Win at bridge

by Oswald and James Jacoby

Shut up and play the cards

"Where did you dig up that opening bid?" asked South. "You're lucky I didn't bid a slam."

South was so busy talking that he forgot to make his game contract. He took his ace of diamonds; drew three rounds of trumps and led a club toward dummy. West played low and dummy's queen won the trick.

Now, South could do no better than to lead a diamond from dummy. West won the trick and led a heart. After that play there was no way for South to keep from losing four tricks.

If South had just used his brain and kept his mouth shut, he would have seen that he could afford just one trump lead.

Then he would lead a club to dummy's queen; return to his hand with that trump he had left in dummy; draw the rest of the trumps; lead another club and eventually discard his losing heart on dummy's king of clubs.

Video's 'Archer' lacks zip of MacDonald novels

Television in review
by Frank S. Swertlow

NEW YORK—In the brilliance of the southern California sun, the hard-boiled gumshoe has thrived.

There is Dashiell Hammett's Sam Spade, Raymond Chandler's Philip Marlowe and finally, Ross MacDonald's Lew Archer. These authors raised mystery writing — the stepchild of literature — to art.

Their detectives are, perhaps, the last American heroes. Their men live by a code in the neon society of southern California. Somebody hires the dick, and like a bulldog he sinks his teeth into a case.

THURSDAY, NBC offered "Archer," starring Brian Keith. NBC has Lew Archer, but it's not Ross MacDonald.

In fact, Paramount Pictures Television, which created the show, will not use any of the author's 27 novels, according to NBC. The show only bears the name, "Archer." The rest is old cars, tired teleplots and the talents of Brian Keith.

Based on the first show, NBC has a turkey and not a peacock.

In the first episode, "The Turkish Connection," a velvet-voiced con man uses the guise of an underground movement to swindle the rich. He cons a child of wealthy parents into joining the movement. The son or daughter then contacts the family asking for ransom. The family pays, but murder is what they get.

AS THE SHOW opens Archer gets out of a beat-up convertible, walks into a posh Beverly Hills home to meet his clients. Their son has written he needs $50,000 to get out of a Turkish prison.

After taking the case, Archer gets into his rusty car, finds the kid, photographs him, and then seems to forget about his boy for the next 45 minutes.

In that time, the kid is murdered, Archer shows the cops his photos, finds the mastermind, and convinces an editor of an underground newspaper to infiltrate the con man's headquarters. Days later, the villian is captured.

IF TV represented relity, Archer, would show the photos and the ransom note to the police. The cops would do the rest.

But TV does not represent reality. Archer acts like an idiot and an embarrassment to every California detective.

Brian Keith is so low-keyed he seems asleep. But this may be the fault of the director. Richard Kelton as the con man seems to be a refugee from disk jockey school. As for Marjoe Gortner, the revivalist-turned-actor, his performance as an underground newpaper editor is so insipid that in comparison he would make Reading the Los Angeles traffic code a thrill.

RTA loses some luster by abdicating budget power

by STEVE FORSYTH

The magic is fading for the Regional Transportation Authority.

The juggernaut that was well-funded and strongly established by the Illinois General Assembly hasn't derailed, but it quickly is slipping onto old tracks and soggy ground.

Pleading lack of staff, and therefore, lack of expertise, the RTA board is adopting a budget today that will tell nothing of plans to improve transportation for Chicago area residents in the near future.

Temporary chairman Joseph Tecson of Riverside modestly admitted the board's shortcomings in a proposed letter to Gov. Daniel Walker, which will accompany the budget and transit plan the board is supposed to have developed by Saturday.

"Because the authority is in its 'startup phase' and has no employes or staff, the proposed annual budget was prepared with considerable assistance from the Division of Public Transportation of the Illinois Dept. of Transportation," Tecson said.

In fact, the board members have had almost no role in developing the budget and the plan.

THE BOARD IS going to accept the figures from the Division of Public Transportation, run by Joby Berman, because that office previously handled transportation in the six-county metropolitan Chicago area. The RTA board was supposed to take over those duties, effectively putting Mrs. Berman's office out of work.

A news analysis

Instead, the board is buying retreads and giving them to the governor as a budget, at the same time acknowledging that it means nothing in the future. The budget is described as a place to start, from which improvements will be made.

The transit plan also is a readily available program drawn up by the Regional Transportation Planning Board, a confusing composite of planners who make their home a bus token's throw from Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley's office.

When the RTA board was asked to comment on the five-year plan before it was approved by the Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission, the board members declined because of lack of expertise. Now they adopt and embrace the plan without further consideration.

TECSON SAYS the plan means nothing because it will go to the governor and the General Assembly as a courtesy, but will be returned and subjected to a series of public hearings—at least one in each county of the RTA area.

McHenry County residents may have a hard time maintaining interest in the new subway and Loop distributor system, which make up a large part of the plan. The public hearings are designed to provide input for a better, more comprehensive plan.

Thus the plan and the budget are being submitted while everyone says it means nothing. It is just a place to start.

THE RTA BOARD already has one foot in the mire of

RTA loses some luster by shunning its budget power

politics, and accepting at face value the advice and findings of other agencies may doom the other foot.

A new, fresh look at public transit will be difficult to sell if it is built on the weak basis of the other agencies. If these other sources were good enough before, the area wouldn't need an RTA now.

Limited knowledge on funding leads Tecson to tell the governor that programs set forth on the budget are subject to financial shortcomings. "Such programs are shown as possibilities, provided funds are available," he says.

His list of "possibilities" includes universal transfers, reduced fares for senior citizens and handicapped persons, improved and expanded suburban bus service, improved and expanded commuter rail service, reduced-fare experiments and the local share of capital-improvement needs.

This guesswork seems to defy the entire purpose of a budget, which should estimate how much money will be available and how it will be spent. It should be a worksheet, not a wish list.

THE BOARD WOULD be better served to see that its 26-member advisory commission is established soon, for whatever input it could provide. Public hearings or discussions with local officials could have provided some knowledge of the needs, if grant requests from bus and rail companies haven't been enough.

More importantly, the board should have addressed itself to the significant issue of the gasoline and parking taxes it has the power to initiate. An estimate of 1975-76 income will be better if board members have an idea of their tax base.

The federal government has indicated its share for the period will be $18.9 million, Tecson said the state expects to take in $114 million from the RTA share of sales taxes and license fees, and Chicago and Cook County will contribute $5 million.

Millions more will come from the federal government for capital grants to buy buses, trains and equipment. The only item missing is the one thing over which the RTA itself has control — the local taxes. It is ironic that this is the only source they cannot estimate.

IN SHORT, the RTA is selling a half-baked plan and is defeating its very purpose — to be a sophisticated, responsible leader in developing a much-needed public transit network. Economic hardships and fuel shortages are destined to force people onto mass transit, but it isn't there now and it won't be there without extraordinary efforts by the RTA.

It may be significant that the only transit expert on the board — chairman-elect Milton Pikarsky — has not joined the sessions and may have no input to the budget until the hearings begin. Up to now, the board had postponed any action it could until a chairman was selected.

Perhaps Pikarsky doesn't want his name on the budget and planning package, particularly if it falls flat. He is billed as one of the smartest transit leaders in the nation, and ought to know what he is doing.

High school equivalency exam forms available Tuesday at Harper

Applications for the February high school equivalency exams will be available from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Community Counseling Center at Harper College in Palatine.

The tests will be administered Feb. 14, 15 and 21. A $5 fee paid with the application will cover all three test sessions.

The tests are open to anyone 19 years of age or older living in Cook County who has not received a high school diploma.

'Ordinances' class set

A seminar on "How to Analyze Statutes and Ordinances" sponsored by the Harper College Community Leadership Training Center will be conducted Wednesday at the college.

The seminar will be from 7 to 10 p.m. in the board room in Building A. Seminar leader will be Samuel T. Lawton, counsel with the law office of Altheim and Gray in Chicago and a professor at John Marshall Law School.

Tuition is $10. Registration may be made by contacting Joan Marsh, coordinator of the program, at the college.

Jewish lunch scheduled

The sisterhoods of Temple Judea, Temple Beth Israel and B'nae Jehosua Beth Elohim will gather for a luncheon at Temple Judea Wednesday in Skokie.

Guest speaker will be Hershel Reiter, director of the Humanistic Counseling Center, who is affiliated with Makom, the new experimental synagog in Chicago.

Sisterhood members and guests are welcome. Donation for the luncheon is $2.50. Reservations can be made through the sisterhoods of the participating temples.

Bingo games Sunday

There's a bingo game in Long Grove every Sunday night.

Congregation Beth Judea sponsors the 7:15 p.m. contest which usually draws about 100 players. The game, which The Herald omitted from a list of bingo games in the Northwest suburbs which appeared last week, is held at the congregation's temple on Ill. Rte. 83 one-half mile south of Ill. Rte. 22.

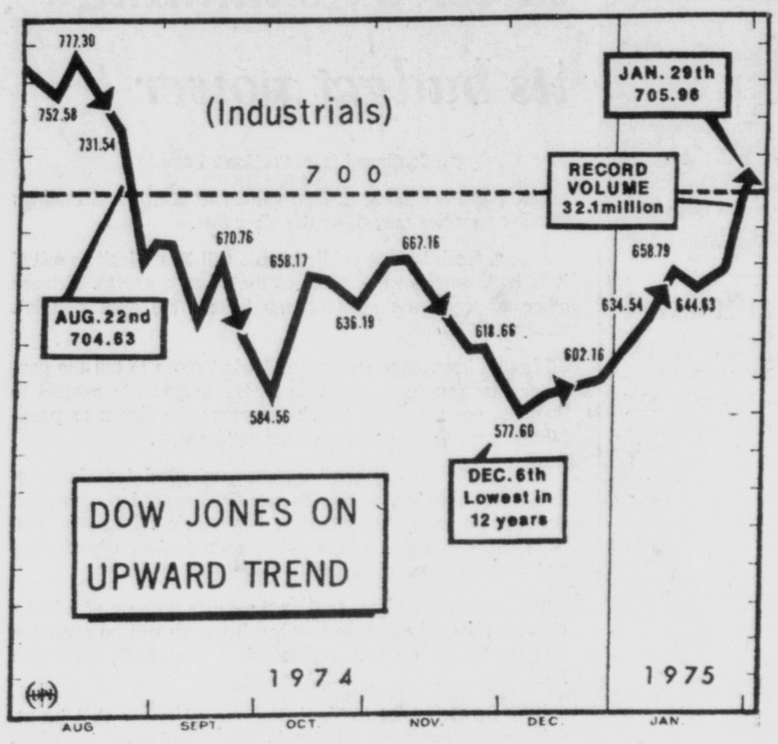
Harper petitions available

Petitions for candidates for the Harper College Board of Trustees are available in the college's business office.

The election for two seats on the board will be Saturday, April 12. Incumbent Marilyn Marier has said she will not seek reelection. Lawrence Moats, the other board member whose term expires in April, has said he has not decided whether to seek reelection.

Candidates must be U.S. citizens, at least 21 years old and a resident of the Harper district for at least one year. Filing of petitions will begin Feb. 26 and continue through March 21.

Profit taking hits market; Dow off 9



PROFIT TAKING halted a weeklong rally on the New York Stock Exchange Thursday as prices dipped for the first time in seven sessions. The Dow Jones average had climbed above the 700 mark for the first time since Aug. 22 but slipped Thursday to 696.42.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Traders set another volume record on the New York Stock Exchange Thursday but prices closed sharply lower for the first time in seven sessions.

The turnover of 29,740,000 shares brought the four-day volume total to 121,040,000 shares, surpassing the 110,616,000 shares traded for the entire week of Feb. 8-12, 1971 — the previous record week.

Thursday's volume ranked fourth on the all-time NYSE list which has been rewritten this week. Thus far this week, the NYSE has had the first, second, fourth and seventh most active sessions in its 183-year history.

The Dow Jones industrial average, up about 6 points at the outset, lost 9.54 at 696.42, its worst decline since it fell 11.11 Jan. 17. In the previous six sessions, it had gained 64.06 points.

Declines topped advances, 820 to 669, among the 1,845 issues crossing the tape.

"THE PROFIT taking was inevitable," Larry Wachtel of Bache & Co., said. It was heaviest in the final hour. Some analysts voiced surprise more traders had not cashed in earlier; others noted some portfolio managers got rid of unwanted stocks.

Westinghouse Electric was the most active issue, falling 1 to 10 7/8 on 438,800 shares, including a block 199,900 shares at 11. The company reported sharply lower fourth quarter earnings.

Glamors were victims of profit taking. Johnson & Johnson lost 3, Ingersoll-Rand 2 3/8, and Corning Glass, McDonald's, Revlon and Caterpillar Tractor a point or more each.

Lahti to help Coast school get 2nd campus

Harper College Pres. Robert Lahti will participate next month in a workshop along with five other college presidents to help a California community college district with its plan for a second college.

Lahti and the other five presidents are all "founding presidents," meaning that they began their institutions. Officials from the West Valley Joint Community College District, Saratoga, Calif., have invited the founding presidents to ask them to critique that district's plan for a second college.

The workshop will be Feb. 16-18 in Saratoga. The West Valley college district will pay Lahti's expenses.

South leader to entertain improving Cougars tonight

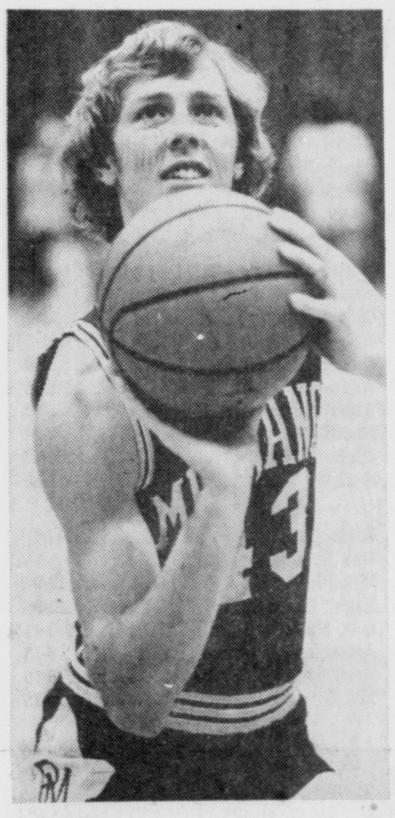
A Herald staff report

Prospect's basketball team may or may not feel secure with its two-game lead over Forest View in the South division of the Mid-Suburban League. But a quick trip to the history books should serve to keep them on their toes.

It was last year that an undefeated Conant squad seemingly had the South race wrapped up — until they collided with a hungry Prospect quintet and came out on the short end. Conant had to go down to the last night of league play before they finally salted away the title.

Tonight the shoe is on the other foot. Prospect (8-0) will host Conant (3-5) at 8 p.m. Last year's MSL champion Conant Cougars are riding a three-game winning streak.

In other games in the South, Elk Grove (4) visits Rolling Meadows (2-6) in a battle that will be featured on WWMM-FM and Forest View (6-2) will host Schaumburg (0-8). Both games will start at approximately 8 p.m.



DEADEYE Tom Holl of Rolling Meadows will carry a streak of 12 straight free throws into tonight's South Division encounter with Elk Grove.

CONANT AT PROSPECT

That sly animal sneaking quietly up the MSL South division standings is a Cougar, playing out of a place called Conant. Although it doesn't look too dangerous it has rubbed out three straight foes to move all the way up to a heady fourth place.

So if the animal has to take its chances against Prospect — and league bylaws forbid the refusal to play selected opponents — there is no better time than the present.

The Cougars and Knights met earlier this season and Prospect surprised nobody by winning easily, 66-39. They have been equally impressive in extending their MSL record to 8-0, including a 59-38 clobbering of Hersey on Tuesday.

Conant was to lose two more, going to 0-5, before breaking loose with a three-point win over Schaumburg, a four-point victory over Elk Grove and, Tuesday, a two-point win over Fremd.

"Conant is hot now and we're preparing for quite a tussle," Prospect's Bill Slayton said. "Dick (Conant coach Redlinger) went with a bunch of inexperienced players this season and it's beginning to pay dividends for him now that they've got some game time in."

The inexperienced players have become old hands at Conant's deliberate style. Ron Sulaski, Pete Scaffidi, Mike Frisch, John Rudzena, Mark Pellegrino and Ed Berry must control the tempo if they are going to keep their win streak intact.

Presenting Prospect's case will be Mike Quade, Paul Withey, Al Black, Doug Bonthron and Dave Mann.

ELK GROVE AT ROLLING MEADOWS

"The key to beating Elk Grove is limiting their guards," Rolling Meadows head coach Ken Arneson said flatly. "But we already found out it's easier to say than do."

In preparing for their rematch tonight, Arneson only has to look back at the first go-round between the two clubs to see that the Grenadiers' guards combined for 27 points in Elk Grove's 61-49 triumph.

"I can safely say that the game was one of our poorest performances of the year," Arneson said, "but their defense had a lot to do with it. They caused us to stand around with their quickness and hustle."

Arneson will go with the same quintet — guards Steve Breitbeil and Dick Blocki, forwards John Hogan and Tom Holl and center Scott Green — that contributed a tremendous effort before succumbing to Wheeling, 63-58, Tuesday night.

If Rolling Meadows is coming into this game on an upbeat after their showing against Wheeling then it is only fair to say the Grove may be down after being shellacked by Arlington.

The guard tandem that hit for 27 in the first Meadows game accounted for 25 against the Cardinals with Greg Kelley getting 17 and Joe Parmentier eight.

But the Elk Grove team is more concerned with preventing points than scoring them, and the job they did against Meadows defensively in the first meeting was one of their best.

The Gren front line of Jeff Smith, Bill Prince, Steve Carson and sixth man Dave Hornacek cut off the Mustangs' inside offense and left the job of scoring points to guard John Hogan. He responded with 20, mostly from the outside and under heavy defensive wraps. But it wasn't enough.

SCHAUMBURG AT FOREST VIEW

It may sound ironic, but the thing that probably scares Forest View head coach Ted Wissen the most is Schaumburg's 0-8 league record.

All Wissen has to do is look at the Sa-

Jumping barrels — better than anyone in the world!

by ART MUGALIAN

Jim Papreck of Wheeling is once again the world champion barrel jumper, and the 24-year-old Glenbrook North graduate

Papreck returned home Monday from Portland, Ore. with a first-place trophy and $1,000 in prize money for jumping over 16 barrels — on ice skates — in the World Barrel Jumping Championships. The tournament is sponsored by National Winter Sports of New York.

It was in 1970 that Papreck, an office worker for the village of Northbrook, first captured the world title, but since then he had been back three times with no success. Finally, this year he brought the coveted title home with him again.

"I had been in the service since then," said Papreck, "and I just didn't have much of a chance to practice. I didn't do much practicing this time either, — just some speed skating.

"But it sure feels good," he continued. "A lot better than last time."

The new world champ had to work for the title. He went right down to the final jump Sunday against Portland's Roland Sylvester, the defending champion.

After clearing 14 barrels, the two finalists set out to conquer 15. Sylvester made it with little trouble, but Papreck needed all three attempts before he vaulted the barrier.

Both skaters missed their first two tries at 16 barrels. Then Sylvester, the local favorite, failed in his third attempt, putting the pressure on the Wheeling resident. If he missed, Papreck would have to settle for second place, since he had two misses at 15 barrels.

"I didn't think about fear," said Papreck. "I was just concentrating on making the jump and getting up good speed."

He cleared the 16th barrel, and in doing so Papreck broke the world-record distance for barrel-jumping at 29 feet, four inches. And he made an ex-champion out of Sylvester.

Papreck's feat can be viewed on tape when ABC Television's Wide World of Sports presents the tournament on Feb. 8. At that time, the pride of Wheeling and Northbrook may become a national celebrity.

Already, one of Papreck's friends is working on an invitation for Jim to next year's Superstars competition. And this year, Papreck will be able to accept an invitation to the Canadian Open Barrel Jumping Championships.

But, except for the fact that he's a thousand dollars richer, Papreck is still the same man. He keeps the same friends and he still plays touchfootball on weekends.

"It hasn't changed my life," he said.

Papreck would just like to see a little more recognition for barrel jumping, a relatively minor sport with few adherents.

"If barrel jumping got more attention, we could get better competition," said the world champ, who didn't start speed skating himself until he was 19.

"Some people think that you have to be crazy to do this because you can get hurt," Papreck said. "But it's just like any other sport — you won't get hurt seriously if you wear the proper protective equipment."

The worst Papreck has suffered in his chosen sport is a dislocated elbow and some pulled stomach muscles.

And a quick thousand bucks.

Frustrating season for Mike Owens

Bob Frisk
Sports Editor

This has not been a very kind year — yet — for Mike Owens.

In fact, it's been one of those frustrating seasons that coaches dread but must accept in their pressure-cooker profession.

Owens, who coached five years at Wheeling High School, now directs the Galesburg Silver Streaks in basketball, and that means he's in charge of one of the most prestigious programs in Illinois.

Prestige is fine but it doesn't guarantee success. Galesburg is experiencing a season that guarantees ulcers — or many sleepless nights — for its head man.

The Silver Streaks stand 5-7 for the season, and arch-rival Quincy comes to town tonight seeking revenge for a two-point loss in early January.

That's just part of the story. Now comes the ulcers part. Nine of those 12 Galesburg games have been decided by six or less points. Six of those games have been decided by two or less points. The spread never has been larger than nine points.

Here's the way the season has developed for Owens and his Silver Streaks:

Galesburg, 69, Kewanee 60.
Peoria Manual 57, Galesburg 55 (overtime)
Peoria Limestone 57, Galesburg 56
Pekin 55, Galesburg 53
Peoria Richwoods 73, Galesburg 64
Galesburg 85, Rock Island 79
Washington 71, Galesburg 70
Galesburg 63, Quincy 61
Galesburg 67, East Moline 61
Moline 79, Galesburg 71
Galesburg 62, Rock Island Alleman 60
Sterling 79, Galesburg 75
Pass the Excedrin!

"We need a laugher — badly," Owens said this week. "If we could beat Quincy Friday on our own floor and then turn around and relax a little and beat Canton Saturday, have an easy game for a change, it just might turn things around. This schedule is murder. There are no soft spots — yet — and it can be rough on a young team in particular."

It's perhaps typical of the way the season has been going that Galesburg led Washington 70-69 with two seconds remaining — and had the ball out-of-bounds. They lost 71-70 when a charging foul on an in-bounds pass was turned into two free throws.

"Unbelievable," said Washington coach Chuck Westendorf.

"Pathetic," said Owens. "I can guarantee that will never happen again. The boy just turned the wrong way with the ball and . . ."

The win over Quincy was a bright spot, but the Streaks have been inconsistent. They blew a four-point lead against Sterling last Saturday and lost with four technical fouls — two on Owens — adding to their downfall.

Yes, it's been that kind of year. Frustration. Anger. Technicals.

The emphasis on any season shifts as you travel throughout Illinois.

Some coaches must realistically stress conference play and consider anything that comes in the state series as just so much gravy.

Some coaches understand that their communities, their fans demand excellence in the state tournament. They demand that you reach Champaign.

Ask someone from Benton or Collinsville or Quincy — or Galesburg — how their team is doing in conference play and they just might say, "To heck with the conference. All we care about is the state tournament."

That's why a 5-7 record in late January, however disturbing, has not sent Galesburg fans into a state of panic. This is a young club. Owens played nine boys against Sterling Saturday — two sophomores, six juniors and only one senior. Only one boy played on the varsity last season and he saw service in eight quarters.

This also is a big club, bigger than most Galesburg teams in the past. In that top nine there are boys 6-8, 6-7, 6-7 and 6-3.

Owens admittedly is in a tough position. He followed one of the giants of the profession — John Thiel — in the head coaching position at Galesburg.

This has been a different coaching experience. Mike had two previous high school jobs — at Peoria Limestone and Wheeling — and both were primarily devoted to building basketball programs. He succeeded admirably.

His first Wheeling team was 1-19. They gradually improved to records of 5-17, 11-10, 17-5, and 19-6.

When Owens came to Galesburg, after three years as a Northwestern University assistant, there was no real building process involved. The program is established. The Silver Streaks have a statewide reputation. It is his job to maintain that reputation and, yes, there has been pressure. It goes with the position.

Mike was a schoolboy star at Galesburg in the mid-1950s. before going on to college stardom at Bradley, and he knows that the community has come to expect winners in basketball.

At Galesburg they stand in line to see games. You battle for season tickets.

There can be no question that Galesburg fans are concerned about their Silver Streaks this winter. Mike Owens is concerned.

"The kids haven't developed an aggressive attitude," he said. "They're young and just haven't realized they can't be friendly on the floor. They're big and young and seeking direction."

Owens and his staff, which includes former Wheeling star Don Wright, are trying to give that direction for the important stretch run ahead.

There still is hope. There still is time in this 1974-75 season. Remember what lies ahead.

For Galesburg High School basketball fans, the season IS the state tournament.

MIKE OWENS maps some strategy in his days as head basketball coach at Wheeling High School. Ted Ecker, now the Wildcat head man, looks on at the left. Owens is the head coach in Galesburg, and his Silver Streaks are off to an erratic 5-7 start. They host Quincy tonight.

Arlington, Hersey meet; top conference scorers battle at Buffalo Grove

A Herald staff report

The North Division schedule in the Mid-Suburban League tonight offers the prep basketball fan a tantalizing smorgasbord menu of action.

An all-Arlington Heights feature is on tap at Grace Gym when unbeaten (8-0) Arlington hosts 1-7 Hersey. The league's top two scorers — Brian Allsmiller and Mark Mara — meanwhile, will be showcased when 3-5 Palatine tangles with 4-4 Buffalo Grove while 6-2 Wheeling and host 3-5 Fremd match run-and-gun styles in still another crowd-pleasing engagement.

All games start at approximately 8 p.m. Here's how they figure to stack up:

HERSEY AT ARLINGTON

After glancing at Arlington's unblemished 8-0 record and its convincing 92-58 triumph over Elk Grove Tuesday night, one might believe that coach George Zigman won't have a care in the world when his Cardinals host Hersey tonight.

"We do have an Achilles heel," Zigman admitted. "Our free-throw shooting hasn't been up to par or where we'd like it to be and you don't have to tell me that games are won and lost at the line."

Through those eight games, the Cardinals have converted a paltry 55 per cent of their charity tosses and just 42.6 per cent over the last three outings.

But, what Arlington's lacked in non-defensible 15-foot pitches, they've more than made up for with quickness, movement and balance. "We're healthy physically and I was pleased with our performance Tuesday. We rotated seven kids into the lineup throughout the game and everyone did the job."

Zigman is understandably leery of Her-xons' overall standard to discover how deceiving their Mid-Suburban League log really is. Schaumburg is still a better than .500 team at 10-9 and owns an enviable 10-1 mark against non-conference opposition.

But Forest View, meanwhile, is undoubtedly playing its best ball of the year, including a well-earned 70-66 triumph over a much taller Palatine club Tuesday night.

"We've got to run to be successful," Wissen emphasized. "When we stop moving, we're vulnerable against any team."

That might hold doubly true against a team as hungry as the Saxons.

Coach Joe Breault's Schaumburg squads have managed just one win in their last 28 league games. This season, though, most of the losses have been close ones, and Breault knows that just one victory could turn the year around for his team.

For that reason, Breault is giving freshman John Chmiel a little more varsity experience than the coach had planned. And the 6-4 Chmiel has responded well with 30 points in two MSL contests.

"John has played really well for us," said the Saxon coach. "He needs to work on his defense and he still has to adjust to the type of ball they play in the MSL, but it sure is nice to know that John will be around for three more years."

Breault also takes comfort in the fact that his entire front line of Jon McIlraith, Ed Chmiel and Marty Golub will return for another season of varsity ball.

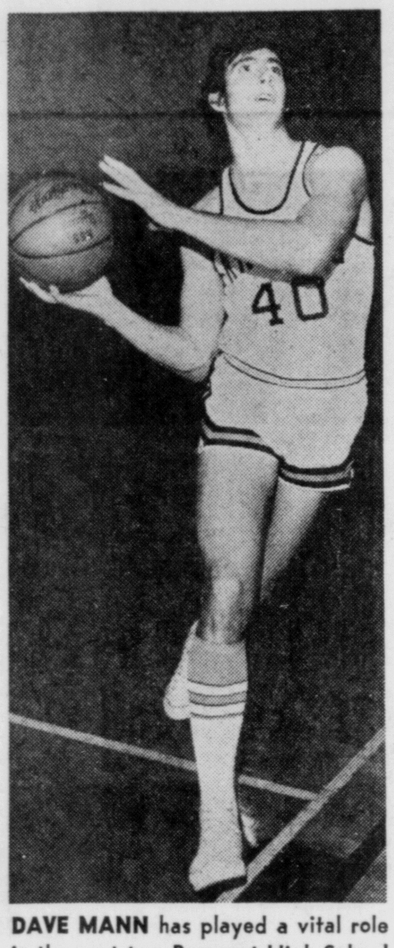
Radio coverage of Elk Grove, Meadows battle

A matchup between two South Division outfits will be the featured basketball game tonight on WWMM-FM.

Although Elk Grove and Rolling Meadows are out of the title fight in the Mid-Suburban, their battle promises to be one of the most interesting meetings on the evening schedule.

Both schools will be making their first appearance this season on the WM basketball broadcasts. The game is at Rolling Meadows.

WM Director of Sports Howard Balson will call the play-by-play and Herald Sports Editor Bob Frisk will give the color commentary with air time at 8 p.m. at 92.7 FM.



DAVE MANN has played a vital role in the past two Prospect High School victories. Mann came off the bench to key an offensive explosion in the second half last Friday against Forest View, and he was the defensive whiz Tuesday who shut off Hersey's high-scoring Clyde Glass. Mann and his Knight teammates will host defending league champion Conant tonight. Prospect stands 8-0 in the South with a two-game bulge over Forest View.

Arlington, Buffalo Grove, Fremd host North contests

sey's one-two punch in junior Clyde Glass and senior Rich Madison. The combo ran up half of Hersey's points during Arlington's 73-54 victory last month.

But even with Glass and Madison in the lineup, the Huskies are suffering through their worst varsity campaign in seven years. Overall, Hersey is 3-13, with just one victory in the MSL.

The last time Arlington and Hersey met, Jerry DeSimone was on the sidelines. The 6-0 Arlington guard is now over his illness and going at full strength, averaging 12 points a game.

Hersey coach Roger Steingraber is starting his biggest front line this season — 6-5 Madison, 6-4 junior Tom Burzak, and 6-5 Glass. The guards are Mark Knuttel and sophomore Tom Frye.

PALATINE AT BUFFALO GROVE

Coach Ron Finfrock of Palatine is beginning to wonder what his team has to do to win a basketball game. The Pirates' 70-66 loss to Forest View Tuesday puzzled him even more.

"We should have won that game by 10 points," said Finfrock. "We just can't put it together in spots. We shot better — we put that part of our game back together. But we gave up too many baskets on fast breaks off intercepted passes."

The Pirates will take on Buffalo Grove (9-7) for the second time this season tonight. In the first match, Palatine held sophomore Allsmiller to just 11 points, but the Bison limited Palatine to 35 points and won, 51-35.

"Allsmiller's a darn good player," said Finfrock. "I think the whole secret is to concede him his 20 points and then hold the rest of the ball club."

Art Stevenson has worked his way back into the Palatine starting lineup tonight when the Pirates attempt to improve their 6-7 overall record.

Buffalo Grove coach Paul Grady learned Tuesday that Allsmiller can be held to as few as five points and the Bison can still win big. Schaumburg simply couldn't stop Scott Groot, Tim Stonerook, Jeff Schuster, and George Bastable.

Grady's main concern, though, is defense, especially in regard to Palatine. "We played very poorly on defense against Schaumburg," said the Bison coach. "It wasn't that way against Palatine last December, but I'm wondering if we're even close to a repeat performance of that effort. Inconsistency is one of our biggest enemies."

The Bison will have to pay particular attention to the MSL's second-leading scorer, 6-5 Mara, who has a 19.5 average. Allsmiller leads the league at 21.4.

WHEELING AT FREMD

Both teams met five weeks ago on the Wheeling Wildcat home court. Wheeling led all the way, winning 63-50.

Since that first meeting, the Wildcats have won six out of eight and remain in contention for the North Division title. Meanwhile, the Fremd Vikings have had their troubles. They have had a record that's just the reverse — 2-6. The Vikings are out of the divisional race.

Two principal goals remain as Fremd prepares for the awesome task of trying to upset Wheeling — finishing in the upper half of the division and getting ready for the regional tournament.

The Vikings are 3-5 in the league and 6-7 overall. If they could play like they did against Palatine two weeks ago, an upset is possible.

Wheeling comes into the struggle with a 6-2 record and an overall mark of 13-3.

"The race isn't over yet," said Wheeling coach Ted Ecker, "but it will be if we have another loss. Tuesday's game (63-58 over Rolling Meadows) was a little too close for comfort.

"Fremd is capable of the same kind of effort. They come at you from all directions and they're tougher, of course, on their home court."

Keith Schildt will attract a lot of attention from the Vikings because the Wheeling star carries a 16.7 scoring average.

Another Wildcat that's just as dangerous because of his passing is Mike Hallstrom, who set a school record against Palatine with 13 assists.

Fremd is led in scoring by Tim Gross (11.2) and Jim Recher (10.1).

Tight races develop in indoor net action

It's a three-horse race in the "A" division and a two-horse race in "B" as the Women's Suburban Indoor Tennis League passes it half-way mark.

Far from the madding crowd in the doubles-only loop are Oak Brook Park District (19-2), River Trails of Mount Prospect (17½-3½) and Oak Park (17-4) in "A," and River Trails (17-4) and Oak Brook (15½-5½) in "B."

Overall, River Trails and Oak Brook are knotted at 34½-7½, with no other team close.

River Trails handed Elk Grove a pair of 3-0 defeats this week. Violette Kastl of Skokie, metropolitan Chicago's No. 1 senior woman player, and Rachel Kotsaqis of Palatine defeated Sandy Nelson and Pal O'Connor in the feature "A" encounter, 6-2, 6-0. Cliffhanger of the day was No. 1 "B," won by the Mount Prospect pair of Betty Allseits and Mary Ostrem over Nan Cassettari and Brownie Pickens, 6-7, 6-3, 6-5.

Oak Park hung close in "A," blanking Woodfield, 3 matches to 0. Ginger Carpenter and Ann Marohn downed Chris Canar and Bobbie Schultz, 6-2, 6-2, in the No. 1 match. Paced by the 6-2, 4-6, 4-3 win of Judy Benson and Judy Ades, last-place Berkley surprised Arlington, 2 matches to 1, in "B."

The women's league standings:

"A"

Oak Brook	19-2
River Trails	17½-3½
Oak Park	17-4
Arlington	10½-10½
Elk Grove	8-13
Woodfield	7-14
Right Club	4-17
Berkley	1-20

"B"

River Trails	17-4
Oak Brook	15½-5½
Woodfield	12-9
Right Club	12-9
Oak Park	9½-11½
Arlington	8-13
Berkley	5-16
Elk Grove	5-16

Cards win; Mustangs gain second place tie

by MIKE KLEIN
Swimming Editor

Arlington continued unbeaten and Rolling Meadows caught Hersey for a second place tie during Mid-Suburban League varsity swimming on Wednesday.

The Arlington Cardinals swamped Wheeling, 117-50, and haven't lost any of six MSL duels. They'll close the dual meet season next Friday at home against Forest View.

Rolling Meadows nipped Buffalo Grove, 88-84, which improved the Mustangs record to 4-1, identical with Hersey. They'll meet next Friday at Wheeling's Neptune Pool, a home meet for Hersey.

This afternoon's MSL slate shows Rolling Meadows at Elk Grove (4:30 p.m.), Prospect at Forest View (4:30 p.m.) and Hersey at Buffalo Grove (4 p.m.).

Joe Nitch and Dixon O'Brien were double winners for Arlington at Wheeling. Nitch captured 200 and 500 freestyles in 1:54.7 and 4:59.4. O'Brien won 100 butterly, 59.8, and 100 breaststroke, 1:08.2.

Meadows' Gary Grunwald and Buffalo Grove's Dan Woodruff scored double wins during their duel. Grunwald won 50 and 100 freestyles in 23.7 and 55.3. Woodruff won the 200 and 500 frees in 1:58.9 and 5:27.7.

Tom Stahnke also won twice for Meadows, taking 200 individual medley, 2:14.5, and 100 butterfly, 57.7.

West hosts East; North visits Warren

Pride takes precedence between Maines West and East in the Central Suburban League while Maine North gets a respite from its O'Hare Suburban schedule in weekend basketball.

West hosts East at eight o'clock this evening, a game that should be won by the home court Warriors.

They're 9-7 overall including 5-3 for third in the Central Suburban South. Maine South (9-0) and Niles West (7-1) are CSL South leaders. All teams will play 14 games.

The Warriors can gain their first three-game win streak. On three occasions, they've won two consecutive games.

This most recent stretch was 52-47 over Glenbrook South and 68-61, in overtime, last weekend against Highland Park.

The Warriors could finish approximately 13-9 before regionals. They should be favored over every opponent except Niles West and Maine South. Others still ahead are Glenbrook North, Niles East and Deerfield.

Maine East has hung its season by losing four straight and tumbling to 6-11 overall. Their worst embarrassment since a 40-point loss at Proviso East occurred last Saturday when Niles West smothered the Demons by 31.

After beating Glenbrook South in their CSL opener, the Demons have lost six and beaten only 16-game loser Niles North.

Thus, Maine East and Highland Park are tired for last place in the Central Suburban North. Both are 2-6. New Trier West leads at 6-2.

Maine North, burned by 18 points last Friday at Ridgewood, plays an 8 p.m., Saturday non-conference date at Warren in Dundee.

Their series record stands at 2-1, Maine's favor. North's first varsity win came against Warren three years ago. The clubs have split their last two games.

Four district meets open in girls bowling tourney

Area girl bowlers will be competing at four different districts today and Saturday as the third state tournament gets underway.

The Schaumburg District begins this morning at 11:00 at Streamwood Bowling Lanes. Also with the hosting Saxons — a defending district champ — will be Rolling Meadows, Conant, Hoffman, Glenbard North and York.

Saturday will see defending state champion Forest View in action at the Arlington District. Also bowling against these two Arlington schools will be Prospect, Fremd, Palatine and Waukegan. First round play begins at 8 a.m. at Fair Lanes Rolling Meadows Bowl.

Elk Grove will be competing at one of the smallest districts of the 30 overall when it goes up against three teams at the Elmwood Park site — Riviera Lanes in Melrose Park. Also vying for the title will be defending district champion Morton West, Proviso West and the hosting Elmwood team.

Maine East will be at the six-team Niles East hosted district at Oakton-Fairlanes Bowl in Skokie, beginning at 9:30 a.m. Also competing will be Niles West, Glenbrook North, St. Gregory and St. Benedict.

Beginning this year, the tournament format will no longer be a single-elimination affair. Instead, consistency and overall team strength will play major roles in deciding the state champ.

The top scoring team from each district will advance to the state finals in Peoria (Feb. 7-8) along with the two Chicago Public League representatives. Rounds in all levels of competition will consist of three-game series, and cumulative scoring will determine advancement to successive rounds and decide the titles.

At the districts, the four highest scoring teams from the first round will advance to the finals. The one team with the highest total pin count for both rounds will earn the berth in the state finals.

At the state finals, the 16 highest scoring teams from the first round will advance to the quarterfinals. The eight highest scoring teams after quarterfinal play will advance to the semifinals. From the semifinals, the four highest scoring teams advance to the finals.

Total pin count for all rounds of the state tournament will determine the places of the four finalists.

Forest View, Arlington 1-2 in bowling

Forest View and Arlington — two teams that will meet in the same district tournament Saturday — finished 1-2 after the final night's action in Mid-Suburban Conference bowling Tuesday at Fair Lanes Rolling Meadows Bowl.

The Falcons of Coach Diann Tomiano locked up the championship earlier in the season, finishing with an 8-1 victory over Conant and a final point total of 72.

Coach Linda Andersen's Cardinals registered the only shutout of the night in stopping Palatine 9-0. They finished with 53 points.

In other action, third-place Rolling Meadows defeated Elk Grove 7-2, fifth-place Prospect edged Schaumburg 5-4 and Hoffman Estates — although finishing last in the standings — nipped Fremd 5-4.

These are the medal winners for each individual bowling category:

High game — Forest View's Nancy Lachus and Prospect's Mary Jo Longa tied with 223. They were followed by Schaumburg's Denise Huzar and Rolling Meadows' Dot'z Johnson with 222, Arlington's Bonny Bookwood with 221 and Forest View's Dale Smart with 215.

High series — Palatine's Denise Parkhurst with 568, Elk Grove's Sandy Boryczak with 545, Prospect's Longa with 544, Arlington's Carol Howland with 540 and Forest View's Judy Pleickhardt with 539.

High average — Forest View's Pat Russo and Fremd's Lauren Zikes tied with 159; Arlington's Bookwood, Forest View's Dawn Powell and Forest View's Pleickhardt tied with 157; and Schaumburg's Huzar with 156.

Hockey Falcons shut out Knights

After a disappointing three game losing streak, the Forest View Falcons came up with an impressive 5-0 victory over Prospect in high school hockey played Saturday.

Jerry DelGuidice picked up Forest View's first shutout by stopping 26 shots in goal.

The first period was played sloppy by the Falcons as DelGuidice had to come up with good saves to preserve the shutout.

The Falcons could only get one shot on goal in the first period but they made it count. Vita Senese, the No. 4 scorer in the league, blasted a shot from center ice that Knight goalie Urban couldn't stop. Don Carone got the assist at 13:47 for a 1-0 lead.

The Falcons scored three second period goals. Jim Ryan scored unassisted at 4:59 and 22 second later, Mike DiSimone scored with an assist pass from Bob Lee. Senese scored his second goal at 12:16, giving Forest View a 4-0 lead through two periods. Jim Woloshyn picked up an assist.

Senese passed to Lee who tallied the final goal at 5:17, third period. The Falcons ended with 21 shots on goal.

The next Forest View hockey game is at 4:50 p.m., Saturday against the Crystal Lake Tigers who trail conference leading Forest View by two points in standings.

Forest View's games on new radio station

The Forest View-Schaumburg basketball game will be broadcast tonight over Forest View High School's new radio station, WFVH-FM, 88.3 on the FM dial. Broadcast time is 7:55 p.m.

The new school station will now be broadcasting all Forest View games, home and away.

At Beverly Lanes

Bev Smith made the 600 Club for the second time this year with a 244-559 as she led her Purple team to a four-point win in the Lady Elks league. Betty McKinlay rolled a 221, Nan Larsen had a 202-503, and Lois Youngstrom had a 516. Ester McDermott picked up the 5-7-9, McKinlay got the 3-6-7-10, and Youngstrom set a record by converting three splits — 8-5-10, 3-6-7, and 5-10.

Final home game tonight for St. Viator

St. Viator plays its final home basketball game this evening and if the Lions lose against Carmel, their hopes for a .500 season will probably vanish.

Steve Antrim's club brings a 6-11 record and four-game losing streak into the 8 p.m. game. They've got four regular season dates left, all within the East Suburban Catholic where Viator is 3-7 and fifth.

They'll close the ESCC campaign with road dates at St. Francis deSales next Friday, St. Joseph (Feb. 14) and St. Patrick (Feb. 21).

Carmel and St. Francis are the only clubs Viator has beaten in six weeks while losing seven. Bill Foreman scored 17 points as Viator stopped Carmel, 52-49, on Dec. 21. Glenn Girard's 22 led the Lions past deSales, 57-54, on Jan. 4.

Their most notable effort during this current 2-7 skein was a two-point overtime loss against ESCC leading (9-1) St. Joseph.

Now 4-4 over its past eight outings, Carmel has averted the skids after a mid-December five-game losing streak. But the Corsairs are still just 6-11 overall and 2-8 for sixth in the East Suburban.

Like St. Viator, they've been held below 60 points in all but two games.

What Ziebart knows about rustproofing:

What car dealers know:

We use 2,000 pages of instructions compiled from factory specifications. Your car dealer uses a few pages of general directions from the salesman who sells him sealant.

We use 9 patented spray tools to get at every inch of vulnerable metal inside your car's body. Your car dealer uses 2, maybe 3 tools.

There are other important differences, too. And you should check them all out.
